AGAIN THE CLERK.

HE SKINS THE ST. CHARLES HOTEL SAFE AND SKIPS.

A Trusted Hotel Clerk Who Gets Away with About $600 Worth of Valuables Belonging to Guests—Clean Gone.

The handsome face of the dashing clerk who has presided over the destinies of the guests of the St. Charles Hotel will be seen in its old haunts no more. His flashing diamond will be missed, and a few, alas! a very few, of the regular boarders will be sorry to think that they are never again to be bluffed by his cold smile and the dignified shake of his skating-rink head. There are several guests who would give half of their night's sleep for a week to have their hands on one end of a rope, running over a lamp-post, after being attached in sailor-knot fashion to the dashing young clerk's neck.

These latter gentlemen have good reason to complain, for when they woke up yesterday morning they were politely informed by the landlord that Clerk McGowan had disappeared in the early morn with all the valuables left in the safe the night before. The landlord had the utmost confidence in his clerk, and the guests could see, from the excited manner in which he told them of their sad losses, that he was telling the truth. He said McGowan was left on duty at 10 o'clock Monday night with about $20 in change in the drawer and the run of the house. When the landlord came down from his room, about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, he found that Mr. Clerk had skipped with everything in sight. On investigating the matter, it was learned that Julian Daigneau had deposited $55 in the office, which was missing. Ed Balderabro, of Fresno, left $300 in gold coin in the office, and it could not be found. Mr. Daigneau also left a fine $250 watch in charge of the clerk when he went to bed, and that, too, had mysteriously disappeared. It will be seen from this that McGowan got away with $375 in cash and the watch.

As soon as the landlord discovered that his house had been robbed by McGowan, he notified the police and the Sheriff. Every effort to keep him from getting out of town was made, but he could not be found. It is believed by the officers that the thief walked out of town at an early hour, and boarded a train at some little station. McGowan was last seen at 2 o'clock m.a. yesterday by Mr. Daigneau, who left his money and watch with him. The young man seemed to be perfectly happy at that time, and was very anxious to do all in his power to accommodate the guest. He even went upstairs and saw Mr. Daigneau safely in his room. The man is described as being about 5 feet 6 inches in height; he weighs 160 pounds, has a light mustache, and is slightly bald. He is probably 36 years of age, and walks and talks slowly. He is quite handsome, and is very fond of women. He had the utmost confidence of his employer, and has always borne a good reputation. He came out here from the East a short time ago, and from his conversation, he has been well raised and has wealthy relatives. Up to a late hour last night the officers had heard nothing of his whereabouts. It will be remembered that something over a year ago the St. Charles safe was robbed by the clerk, one Charles Petty. He did not run away, but thought he could stay and escape detection. He was exposed by Detective Emil Harris, who recovered the stolen property. Petty was sickly, and had a sick family, so his employer declined to prosecute. The last heard of him he was in San Diego.

WATER GAS.

Extensive Operations by the New Gas Company.

With L. E. Mosher, of the Consumers' Gaslight, Heat and Power Company, a representative of THE TIMES rode out yesterday to the company's works, at the southeast corner of Alameda and Seventh streets. The company has laid out an immense amount of money and labor, but in such a quiet way that very few people in the city have any idea of the magnitude of its operations. The company has a tract of several acres at the above point, and there the works are going up rapidly. A substantial brick building, 40x80, and two stories high, is up. The roof cannot yet be put on, as it would interfere with the derricks necessary to hoist the mammoth iron cylinders of the plant into position. An enormous hole has been excavated east of the building, and the massive brick foundation for the gasholder is nearly completed. The holder will be sixty feet in diameter, and will rise forty feet above the ground, while the circular brick tank upon which it rests is about twenty feet deep. The yard is filled with enormous iron cylinders for various uses—the generators, purifiers, hot-blast stoves, etc. Their number and size is bewildering. These all go in the brick building, where their solid foundations are now being laid. Some of them are already in position. The plant with which the new company will start business costs $100,000, and will be the most complete affair in this part of the State. The company has already laid nearly six miles of pipe. Four miles of this is the twelve-inch main, the largest iron pipe ever laid here; the remaining two miles is of eight-inch, six-inch and four-inch pipe. The system of piping adopted by the company is much more business-like than the one so long in vogue. Its main runs straight out Seventh street westward, and has laterals (of twelve-inch pipe) branching off to the main streets like the limbs of a tree. At present these laterals are laid only northward from Seventh street, but those to the south will soon be added. The new company has wisely prepared itself to meet easily the demands of a city of 200,000 people. The registered capacity of their plant is over 500,000 cubic feet of gas a day. The present consumption in this city is not to exceed 150,000 feet a day. The new gas is straight water gas, and the most satisfactory fuel gas made. The freight blockade has delayed the company several months, and it will be probably two months yet before the gas is manufactured. It will be put on the market for $1.50 per thousand for fuel (present price of gas here, $3). It is probable that a gas war between the two companies will result, and it is prophesied that by fall gas may be selling here at 50 cents per thousand.

Lyman's Case.

Lyman, the railroad man who was arrested Saturday night while in the alleged act of rolling a drunk, was released yesterday morning because the man who caught him refused to appear against him. The arrest was not made by Capt. Tyler, as was stated in an evening paper. He was arrested by a citizen, who says he saw him with his hand in the drunk's pocket, and then turned him over to Tyler. When the citizen learned that Lyman had a helpless wife he refused to appear against him and he was discharged.

A CLUNIE.

A City Prisoner Claims Distinguished Relations.

Everybody in the northern part of the State, and especially in Sacramento, knows Tom Clunie. Clunie was almost raised in that city, and has not only made a large fortune, but has made a reputation as a lawyer and a statesman. He began the practice of the law when he was quite a boy, and almost before he had reached manhood's estate he was well-fixed in this world's goods, and boasted of being a steady married man. Tom became a big gun in the Democratic party and made himself popular at every stump-speaking break-down in the country round about. He built fine three-story brick edifices in various parts of the Capital City, and about two years ago one of the finest theaters in the State was constructed with the assistance of Tom's money and Col. Gray's brains. Tom was wanted in this city yesterday, and the telegraph wires would have become red hot if the individual who wanted him could have raised the necessary coin of the realm. The individual is a brother, who never could do well. At least, he says he is ex-Senator Clunie's brother, and he is as like the great Democrat of the n. c. b., both in feature and figure as two peas; and when he was conducted to the police station by Officer Woodward, no one about the office doubted his word. He gave his name as J. H. Clunie and swore that he was the soberest man in town. Soon after he had been placed in the drunks' cell he got high-toned and kicked up such a row that the officer on duty was compelled to put him in the cooler and turn the water on him. This sobered him down and he told a TIMES reporter how he had been sent down here by his rich brother, as the great Democrat is very anxious to get rid of him.

PARSONS HOLDS ON.

The Court Holds That He Can Keep His Land.

An interesting suit was decided yesterday in Judge O'Melveny's court, which will be important in its result in these days of extensive real-estate transactions. The suit was that of Drehr vs. Parsons, of Pomona. Almost a year ago the firm of House & Thomas, of that town, sold or bargained to sell eight acres of land belonging to Dr. Parsons to a gentleman named Drehr, who paid $300 deposit on the same. When Parsons was informed of the sale he referred to the fact that he had taken the land out of the market several months before, and was almost certain that he had informed the firm of House & Thomas to that effect. Since he had taken the land from the market it had increased in value very greatly. Dr. Parsons refused to give over a deed for the land, and refused the tender of the entire purchase money. Drehr then instituted suit, and, in the trial, introduced evidence to show that House & Thomas had never received any notice revoking their contract to sell the land. The court held the evidence to show that Parsons had only contracted with House & Thomas to sell the land at a certain price for a specified time to be sufficiently strong to prove that fact, and that a specific contract did not bind after the time specified had expired, which so happened to be the case. The suit was accordingly decided in favor of the defendant, and Parsons' land is still in his possession and worth more than ever.

THE GIRLS' HOME.

Steps Taken to Establish a Noble Institution.

Mrs. H. A. Watson, Col. J. J. Ayers Mayor Workman, H. A. Watson and M. L. Wicks met at Justice Austin's courtroom last night for the purpose of establishing a refuge for girls who have no homes. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Wicks, who stated the object. The first thing to be considered was a name for the institution. After some discussion it was decided to call the institution "The Girls' Home." The following Board of Directors was appointed: Mayor Workman, M. L. Wicks, Mrs. H. A. Watson, William Lacy, R. M. Widney, J. M. Griffith, H. L. Macneil, H. W. Mills, Frank E. Adams and Col. J. J. Ayers.

Col. Ayers stated that he thought the best thing to do was to incorporate.

Mr. Wicks thought they could not do anything until after they had secured the consent of the above mentioned gentlemen to act as trustees. Col. Ayers stated that $2215 had already been subscribed. He said that he and Mrs. Watson had talked the matter over and had come to the conclusion that she had better not attempt to get small subscriptions until after it had been put on a business basis, as suggested by Mr. Wicks. That is by incorporating as soon as they can see the proposed trustees. The trustees present consented to act.

Mr. Wicks consented to draw up the incorporation papers.

Adjourned until next Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

ONCE PAID.

Shall the City Pay Twice for the Same Work?

A Mr. McGinley came before the Police Commissioners yesterday with a grievance. It seems that during the smallpox scare McGinley was sworn in as a special police officer. He served one day, and then his brother took his place and also served one day. A warrant was drawn in favor of J. McGinley, and McGinley number two came to the police office to "see about when it would be paid" (as number one asserts), bringing the warrant with him. He was told that it would be paid the first day of the month, but said he wanted the money then. Whereupon Officer Jeffries cashed the warrant, and afterward drew the money from the city treasury on it. Now comes McGinley number one and demands that some one, presumably the city, shall 'pay him for those two days' work, as he is not his brother's keeper, nor vice versa, and he says his brother had no right to receive the money. Several witnesses were examined, and the case went over to bring up the man McGinley who did get the money. The amount is small, only $5.80.

BOLD BURGLARS.

They Make a Good Haul in a Pasadena House.

Some miscreant broke into the residence of Mrs. Tower, on Colorado street, Pasadena, some time Monday night, and secured valuables to the amount of $300. A gold watch and a miscellaneous assortment of jewelry was confiscated. There is no clue to the burglar. Mrs. Tower's mother was in an adjoining room at the time, and plainly heard the rascals at work, but thought that it was some member of the household.

THE FIRE ALARM.

CITY OFFICIALS PUT IN A WHOLE DAY TESTING IT.

The Board of Fire Commissioners and the Chief of the Fire Department Turn in Numerous Alarms—An Unsatisfactory Test.

The work of testing the Richmond fire-alarm system in this city occupied the attention of the Fire Commissioners and Chief of Fire Department yesterday morning.

The first box opened proved a dismal failure. It was No. 32, at the corner of First and Main streets. When the button was pushed there was a buzzing sound, and after several seconds the gong struck once. It was quite an interval before the other two strokes followed, and much longer till it struck again. The box did not work correctly after repeated efforts and was abandoned.

Box 31, at the police headquarters, was next turned in and sounded correctly four distinct alarms.

Box 35, from the corner of Temple and New High streets, came in correctly at No. 3 engine-house, as did 34, from the corner of Mayo and Los Angeles streets, and 41, from the corner of Fifth and San Pedro streets.

Box 42, from the corner of Los Angeles and Sixth streets, started off badly, but recovered after the first alarm and sent in the balance correctly.

Box 45 came in correctly from the corner of Fifth and Spring streets. No complaint can be made of the result of the testing of 43, from the corner of Sixth and Olive streets, and 46, from the corner of Sixth and Pearl.

Sixteen, from the corner of Ninth and Pearl, was not satisfactory at the beginning, but closed all right.

The result of the alarm from the box at Washington Garden was unsatisfactory. The gong rang once, then stopped, and rang again, making 11. After a few seconds the correct alarm, 14, came in twice.

The alarm from box 12, at the Morris Vineyard engine-house, acted in the same manner, ringing two bells at the start, and afterward ringing 1—2, in proper style, for three alarms.

From box 17, at the Twelfth-street carstables, a correct alarm was received; also, from box 15, at the corner of Ninth and Olive streets; box 13, on the corner of Spring and Main, near Ninth, although a trifle slow.

Box 33, at the corner of Main and First streets, was turned in a second time, and responded all right, having been fixed up.

Starting out again, the Chief and one Councilman proceeded to First and Alameda streets, where they attempted to turn in an alarm. It responded in several disconnected clangs, and then ceased altogether. Sixty-three, at the corner of Commercial and Wilmington streets, was almost as much at fault. Arriving at the Philadelphia Brewery, on Aliso street, an alarm was sent in from box 61, which worked to the best advantage of any sent in. Three alarms of four numbers each were received.

The alarm from box 65, on the corner of Turner and Vignes streets, was a subject of disgust to the boys, and it will have to be overhauled.

In the afternoon correct alarms were received from boxes 51, at the corner of Third and Bunker Hill avenue; 52, Temple and Bunker Hill avenue; 53, Temple and Beaudry avenue; 5, Campbell block, East Los Angeles; 6, Mozart and Workman streets; 7, Downey avenue and Jefferson street; 8, Daly and Well; 23, Southern Pacific Railroad passenger depot; 24, College and Buena Vista streets; 26, Dale and Ash streets; 25, High, Main and Alameda streets; 121, Boyle Heights, First street; 123, Macy-street covered bridge; 36, corner of Requena and Los Angeles streets.

The alarm sent in from box 21, at the corner of New High and Short streets, was very faulty.

□During the test the large bell on the First-street hill responded promptly in nearly every instance, and correctly when the alarm itself was correct.

Chief Moore had men stationed near the bell, as well as the engine-houses, all having the same instructions: to mark the time of day, and the number of taps received for each alarm, the tally-keepers not being informed as to the box. A comparison of the tally-sheets showed the boxes out of repair to be Nos. 32, 42, 16, 14, 12, 62, 63, 65, and 21.

The test, although not satisfactory, was no doubt as favorable as the committee expected. The writer, during a residence of three years in a city in Indiana that used the Richmond system, never remembers a test in which every box came in correctly. Not to say that the Richmond alarm is totally unreliable, as a system, but the individual cases of unreliabilily of certain boxes at times of disastrous fires is still fresh in the memory of the Hoosier scribe. For a term of six months the city of Logansport, Ind., abandoned the Richmond system, and relied on the telephone, until the alarm was patched up in a way at a large cost. It is working now with its accustomed reliability.

It behooves the Fire Committee to have the alarm stand a most rigid test before accepting it. The cost of repairing a fire alarm and keeping it in constant working order is a huge undertaking.

HALL VS. PERRET.

Some Sensational Charges in a $100,000 Suit.

The trial of the celebrated case of Hall vs. Perret, over $100,000 worth of property on the northeast corner of Third and Spring streets, is attracting some attention in Judge O'Melveny's court. It will occupy several days in the hearing.

The story of the case is familiar to all readers of THE TIMES.

The testimony of Areadia Yorba, who nursed Mrs. Valenzuela de Foster in her last illness, was heard yesterday afternoon, by means of an interpreter. She told of her being the nurse of Mrs. Foster, and related the surroundings of the old lady just prior to her death. She spoke of the influence of Mrs. Perret and one Cota over Mrs Foster. She had heard Mrs. Perret ask Mrs. Foster to make the will into a deed to save the trouble of probation, and to gain possession of the property in such an effective manner as to entirely shut out the real heirs. Before Mrs. Foster's death there were many people about her, and much influence brought to bear. At one time the Perrets gave Mrs. Foster a quantity of beer and wine in their room. The witness had never known the deceased to drink beer or wine previous to this episode. Cota was about the house and in Mrs. Foster's presence a great deal of the time.

Mrs. Perret, the defendant in the case, is a very beautiful Spanish lady of about 30. It is alleged that she and Cota exercised threats and undue influence to induce Mrs. Foster to give Mrs. Perret a deed for the property involved in the suit. Mrs. Hall, who was also present in court as the principal of the four heirs who are the plaintiffs, is about 40, with very dark complexion and reasonably good looks.

A Remarkable Boom.

The boom of the Simi rancho is one of the latest wonders. On the 14th of this month --as exclusively reported by THE TIMES—the 96,600-acre ranch was bought by a Los Angeles and San Francisco syndicate for $575,000. An incorporation was formed as soon as possible, and the stock put upon the market at $100 a share. Yesterday—just ten days from the purchase—the last share of stock was sold, and a premium of 25 per cent. is already being offered.

SIDEWALKS.

Something About Them Here—Quality and Quantity.

One of the most important of public improvements in the streets of a city is laying of good sidewalks. This especially attracts the attention of visitors in wet weather, as a large majority of them do a good deal of walking on the public thoroughfares. Some of the suburban towns have been making considerable progress in this direction, and yesterday a TIMES reporter sought one of the largest contractors in that line and put a few questions to him on the amount of such work which had been done in Los Angeles lately.

John Flood was found at his residence, corner of Jackson and Wilmington streets, and questioned on the subject with the following result:

"Mr. Flood, you do a good deal of business in putting down sidewalks, do you not?"

"Yes, sir. I presume I do a pretty good share of the work in this vicinity. I have been in the business here five years, and own the Schillinger patent for artificial stone sidewalks in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties."

"About how much have you done in that line in Los Angeles city during the past six months—how many miles have you put down?"

"I cannot tell exactly on an off-hand question, but should say between four and five miles. I have used in that time 5000 barrels of cement and keep from twenty to thirty men employed all the time. I have contracts on hand for building some three miles more, but do not care to put it down in very hot weather."

□"I suppose, of course, your material makes a durable sidewalk?"

"It does when it is well put down. There are samples of it at Temple block and on Main, between First and Second, that have been laid some four years, and they show for themselves. It will last twenty to thirty years when properly made. I use for the three-fourths top cement and sand in equal parts; for a two and one-quarter inch bed, one part of cement to six of sand. This makes something that will last. But there are a good many small botch workers in the city now that are an injury to themselves and me by trying to put down an inferior walk for less money, and the way things are going now the business will be ruined in a year or so."

"Is there much other sidewalk, besides this kind, being put down here?"

"No; I believe I do the biggest of this. Plank sidewalks are not allowed, and there has been but very little asphaltum—a few hundred feet—laid here."

"I hear that Pasadena is doing a good deal in this direction. How is it?"

"I think that is so. I have the largest contract there now that has ever been let for similar work in the State. It is from Pasadena to the Raymond Hotel—a mile and a half; a walk on each side, ten feet wide, making three miles in all."

"I see you believe in artificial stone, from the looks of things here?"

"Yes; my house is built of that material, as you see, and by looking in my basement and yard, you will see that it makes a very clean, light floor for both of them."

SPORTING.

Several Glove-fighters Anxious for Gore—Maybe.

The following articles of agreement between Cleary and Manning were signed yesterday:

LOS ANGELES, May 24, 1887.

We, the undersigned, Tom Cleary, of San Francisco, and Billy Manning, of Los Angeles, hereby agree to meet and fight to a finish, with skin gloves, for a purse of $500.

The fight to take place within two weeks, within fifty miles of Los Angeles. The winner to take $300 and the loser $200. No money to be paid to either party unless a committee of three, to be selected by the referee from the audience, will decide that the fight is a good, square and genuine fight. Signed in presence of J. J. Donovan.

BILLY MANNING.
TOM CLEARY.

WILL MEET CLEARY.

A few days ago E. W. Bradstreet, a northern club-swinger and boxer, challenged Cleary to a glove contest. Cleary paid no attention to the challenge, but yesterday announced that he would "stop" any two men in four rounds each, next Saturday evening, in Mott Hall. Bradstreet called at this office yesterday to say that, although he is working at his trade, and not in training, he will meet Cleary then, and there.

A HORSEBACK WRESTLE.

Sam Matthews, a Southern California boy, who is now the most famous athlete upon the coast and middle-weight champion of the world, is in the city. Next Sunday he will introduce at the Santa Monica base-ball grounds his wildly-exciting new sport, the horseback wrestle. His opponent will be Sergeant Owen Davis. Manager D. B. Tobin, of the Santa Monica Base-ball Club, offers a handsome purse for the contest, which promises to be the most exciting ever seen in the county.

CAPT. DORST.

One of Crook's Indian Campaigners in the City.

A representative of THE TIMES who strolled into the Nadeau last evening met there Capt. J. H. Dorst, Fourth Cavalry, U. S.A., who is in from Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., on official business. The neatly-dressed, smooth-shaven gentleman of to-day was hardly recognizable as the dusty, bearded, unkempt and bepatched soldier whom the same news-seeker met a little over a year ago at Ft. Bowie, fresh from the Apache campaign. He is the same pleasant and intelligent gentleman, however, whether in the field or in the parlor.

Capt. Dorst was the last man of Gen. Crook's forces to come in from the field. Indeed, he did not arrive at Ft. Bowie until some time after Gen. Miles had assumed command of the Department of Arizona. When Geronimo and his companions, after their surrender to Gen. Crook, broke away again on the Mexican line and fled into the wilds of Mexico, Capt. Dorst and his command followed at once and conducted the principal pursuit of the renegades. He kept it up for about three weeks, marching in that time an enormous distance, but failing to overtake those incomparable warriors, whose ability to cover distance is the marvel of the world. Only when his force was completely used up did Capt. Dorst return to headquarters. He had suffered such hardships as to incapacitate him from taking an active part in the vigorous campaign which immediately followed. Last July he went to Washington, in charge of Chatto and a small band of Apaches, afterward taking them to Florida to join the rest of their race in exile.

Capt. Dorst is much pleased with Los Angeles, which he now sees for the first time. It will take several days to transact his business here, after which he will return to his post, at Ft. Huachuca.

Dust to Dust.

The funeral of Charles E. Stose was held yesterday afternoon, at 132 South Olive street, Rev. E. J. Birdsall, of the Episcopal Church, presiding. The Seventh Infantry Band and a number of the battalion escorted the remains to the undertaking establishment of Orr & Sutch, whence they will be sent to Chicago tomorrow for interment.

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Howard H. Crawford and Carrie T. Ferguson, and James G. Madden and Etta May Snodgrass.

THE DAIRYMAIDS.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR THE FESTIVAL OPENING.

List of the Swiss Dairymaids, Peasant Lads, Etc., Who Will Participate—The Programme to Begin This Evening.

All day yesterday carpenters were busy at work in the Hazard Pavilion, preparing the various booths, Swiss cottages and the grand stage for the Dairymaids' Festival, which opens this evening, for the benefit of the First Congregational Church. HYDE PARK!

Look where you will in the vicinity of the city of Los Angeles, in search either of lots or acre property, for charming homes, and the best judgments will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the A., T. & S. F. system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor at La Ballona, and is distant 7½ miles from the center of the city; a midway town between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberal-sized lots, 60x189 feet, fronting on sixty-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $100 each; $40 cash, balance $10 per month, without interest. Such terms give the present purchasers a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the harbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 acre villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 p.m., to show parties the beautiful property.

LYNCH VS. VANDEVER.

CONTESTANT BEGINS HIS EVIDENCE IN REBUTTAL.

Some Able Witnesses Who Never Paid Any Money, Never Saw Any Paid, and Don't Know of Any Being Paid.

The taking of testimony in rebuttal in the Lynch-Vandever contest of election began yesterday before Notary Public Seamans.

A SEPULVEDA

sworn: I reside in this city; am 47 years of age. For six years I was County Auditor of Los Angeles County. I was at several precincts on the 2d of last November, among others, at the depot polls. I know Francisco Garcello, who testified for respondent in this case. I did not solicit him to vote on November 2d last, either in company with Mr. Bilderrain or any one else. I did not try to influence his vote in any way. Only asked him if he had voted on that day. I was not present when McCaffrey paid money to any one to influence his vote on that day, and did not tell Garcello that I had a ticket with Walter Moore's name on it.

Cross-examined: I did not give Garcello a ticket that day and did not see any one else do it. I did not give any person any money that day—not that I remember of. I am certain I did not; perfectly certain. I did not go upstairs into any room that day.

ROBERTO DOMINGUEZ

sworn: I have been examined in this case before. I was a deputy assessor. I enrolled Luigi Garofaro. He asked me to sign his name to the affidavit. Several persons were present when he made the request. He did not tell me he was not a citizen. If he had I should not have enrolled him. He told me that he had been naturalized. I questioned him twice on his qualifications as a voter and swore him to them. I do know Pedro Garcia, known as Indian Pete. I never tried to prevent him from coming up here to testify. I know Barregas, but never tried to influence him not to come and testify.

Cross-examined: Luigi Garcello speaks English. I do not know how well, as I never examined him as to that. He answered my questions on his qualifications very thoroughly. I asked him in both languages. Well, because I can speak both, and had my option. I don't remember whether he spoke English or Spanish when he told about his naturalization.

JOSE SANCHEZ

sworn: I reside in this city and was at the depot polls on November 2d of last year. I did not solicit Pedro Garcia to vote on that day nor pay him or anybody else $2 to vote that day.

Cross-examined: I was at the depot all that day. I did not pay any money to any person. I was there to see that those who voted the Democratic ticket voted it, and furnish them with tickets. They gave me money to eat and treat on. R. Bilderrain gave me $10 in the morning. I received no other money—none to buy votes.

JOSE ROMERO

sworn: I reside in East Los Angeles. I was at the depot on election day, November 2d. I did notice Noberto Valencia there. I did not tell him or any one that I had money to buy all Republicans.

Cross-examined: I was working for the Democratic ticket that day as any one else would do. I paid out no money except for my expenses—eating, smoking, etc. I was there when Laeva was arrested. I did not try to get him away from the officers. I did not give him money and did not state so on that day. I did not say so in the presence of Mr. Darcy and Mr. Appel. I did not hand him any money that day.

R. F. SEPULVEDA

sworn: I was present at a conversation between Miguel Barregas and R. Dominguez, on Main street, in which Barregas told Dominguez that he had refused to go to Mr. Appel's office and make an affidavit because he had not seen any votes purchased on that day.

JOAQUIN VILLALOBOS

sworn: I was here in November of last year. I know José Lopez. He and I made an agreement in the latter days of October. He told me if I would desert the Democratic party and come back to the Republican party again he would give me $10. He drew an agreement and I signed it. The $10 was deposited with Valle. I got $1.50 of it. I met Lopez and he said he was sorry I was working for the other side and tore up the agreement. Three persons were present when the agreement was made. [Names them.]

Respondent declines to cross-examine on the ground that this is not proper rebuttal testimony, and that he would have no opportunity to contradict it.

MARIANO ASEVEDO

sworn: Before I go any further I want to know what I am here for. I want my pay. [Mr. Roberts hands over the coin.] I reside in Los Angeles. I did not solicit any one to vote for Joseph D. Lynch. I was arrested by Mr. Darcy on that day. He knows why; I don't. I did not pay money to any one to vote that day. I am a Republican, and worked for all but one on that ticket.

No cross-examination.

Adjourned to 10 a.m., May 25, 1887.

TWO FRIENDS MEET.

"Hello! old fellow. What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.

"I have been taking mercury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.

"And I," said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

Port Ballona.

The Future Harbor of Southern California.

THIS IS THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, OF THE ATCHISON, Topeka and Santa Fé system, who are under contract to lay five miles of sidetracks at this point by July 10, 1887—the shortest railroad line between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. PORT BALLONA is situated on Santa Monica Bay, only thirty minutes' ride by rail from the City of Los Angeles, with trains to begin running every three hours in the day early in July. Property can be purchased now at a much lower figure than when railroads and steamships are brought together. PORT BALLONA has two main avenues, one 100 feet and one 80 feet wide, with all other streets 60 feet. Residence lots are 40x150, and business lots 25x100 and 25x150 feet. The residence property is at an elevation of from 50 to 75 feet above tide-water, thus affording a most magnificent view, extending from Point Duma to the San Jacinto Mountains, and from the San Bernardino Mountains to Santa Catalina Island, in the Blue Pacific, and with a Beach unsurpassed on the Coast.

The Beautiful Lake of Ballona

Is one of the greatest features of the place, affording, at all times, a perfectly safe and pleasant place for Sailing and Boating of all kinds, and teeming with Fish and Water Fowl. There is also a never-failing Spring of Pure Sulphur Water, and both sulphur and salt water bath-houses are already in course of construction.

☞Water will be delivered in iron pipes in front of each lot under good pressure.

☞Lots are now on sale, and maps and all other information can be obtained from

Great Credit Sale of Lots in MARQUETTE!!

The model city, MARQUETTE, one mile east of Magnolia and Ontario, 600 feet higher than the townsite of Ontario, with a frontage of 2640 feet on the Santa Fé Railroad, outside the wind belt. A never-failing supply of the purest mountain water, of sixteen inches, piped at high pressure through the town, is deeded with the land. The soil is a rich, warm loam, precisely the same as that in the famous Cucamonga Vineyard, the finest in California, near which Marquette is located. Marquette is the center of the most productive fruit district in Southern California. The view from Marquette is unsurpassed, and commands the whole of that rich and fertile valley from Pomona and Rincon, over the Chino Ranch, to Riverside, Colton and San Bernardino. A magnificent hotel is now being built at Marquette. A livery stable is now under construction, and a large force of men are engaged in making the streets and other improvements. EDWARD FRASER, a man of wealth and culture, is devoting all his energies to the improvement of the new town. Further particulars of ARIZONA needs some sort of improvement, and now that she has secured J. de Barth Shorb she is happy.

'FRISCO has another smallpox patient. It is now the turn of Los Angeles to retort upon her big sister "You're another!"

"ELI PERKINS" has come and gone, and, so far as known, did not perpetrate a single lie while in Southern California. Is his tongue losing its cunning?

MRS. WATSON'S noble effort to found a home for erring girls is meeting with gratifying success. Her appeal is one which touches the best instincts of mankind.

WITH fuel gas at 50 cents per thousand, as an expert declares it is likely to be before fall, the fuel question in Los Angeles will not seem so mountainous as it has been.

THE Supreme Court has washed away the cranks who demanded that the city should compensate them for damage done them by the floods, in whose track they got.

THE itinerant and somewhat loony Senator Jones, of Florida, has been succeeded by Senator Pasco. Pasco has entered into a bond with his constituency not to look upon the Detroit girl when she stingeth like an adder.

LYNCH has begun to rebut with witnesses who didn't know that any money was paid. The voter who didn't know that money was paid in this city in the election at which Br'er Lynch was defeated must have neglected his opportunities sadly.

WASHINGTON CITY is taking active measures to improve her street-car service, and, as a preliminary step in that direction, President Hurt and Director C. C. Glover, of the Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company, spent five weeks visiting cities of the West, and examining the various street-railway motors. They have the following to say of Los Angeles and its cable road, which they consider the road of the future: "We next visited Los Angeles. There we found a cheap line, which had been established to run into the suburbs to boom property. There was but a single track, with turn-outs, something supposed to be impracticable with the cable, but it worked satisfactorily, and everything boomed so rapidly that it is the intention to establish a permanent and thoroughly-equipped line. That is one of the liveliest real-estate places I ever saw. The brokers literally do business on the streets."

The Church and the Labor Question.

The labor question has at last been taken up for consideration by one wing of the churches, and has received from this body thoughtful and dispassionate attention. The Missouri Synod, the leading convocation of Lutheran clergymen in the United States, concluded its triennial labors by considering what attitude it was advisable for the church to hold towards the Knights of Labor. The committee were decided in their condemnation of the boycott as a weapon for righting alleged wrongs, and they denounced the interference by the Knights of Labor with non-union men, and their efforts to prevent them from taking the place of strikers, who not only refused to work themselves, but would prevent by force others from doing so. Their condemnation of strikes was unqualified, and they unhesitatingly warned all the members of the German Lutheran Church from joining the order of the Knights of Labor.

The promulgation of this warning will, doubtless, have much influence with the German Lutherans in this country. The intelligent and enlightened German is not the friend of the Anarchist. He is able to distinguish between liberty and license, and is not anxious to see grafted upon our institutions the methods of the Nihilist and Socialist of the Old World. He appreciates, also, the necessity, which is every day becoming more apparent, of liberty protecting itself against the encroachments of European outlaws, who come to the United States with no knowledge of our laws and institutions, and who seek to override them for purposes of their own. The intelligent and honest German is a good citizen and is not in sympathy with reckless adventurers who come here with their crude notions of human rights, and their caste hatred, and who would overturn our whole social and political fabric. Anarchy is the supreme law of the Anarchist. Rule or ruin is the motto of these foreign invaders, who are seeking to arouse a spirit of antagonism between labor and capital, and the Lutheran Church is wise in counseling its members to stand aloof from all such organizations as tend toward strife and bitterness between the different classes of society.

Strikes and boycotts are not the best methods of redress in free America. Capital is not the huge anaconda here that it is in the Old World, crushing out the life of the poorer classes and pressing them down into want and poverty. The door is open for every man who has the brains and the industry necessary to make his way in the world and to become his own master. A government which takes its presidents, its great generals, its statesmen and its leaders so often from the humblest ranks of life is not a government of oppression and tyranny. A man here may rise just as high as he is capable of rising. There is no law to hinder his advancement, no restrictions against his accumulation of capital, and no obstacle in the path of his ambition which untiring energy, broad intelligence and determination may not overcome. America is not the land of serfs or of autocrats. Every man is a sovereign citizen with sovereign rights, and his best weapon against wrong is the ballot which he holds in his hand. There is no difference in the power of the ballot of the poor man and that of the rich man. The one is as potent as the other to right wrong and bring justice to the oppressed.

It is the value of the ballot that ignorant and restless foreigners need to learn, and the omnipotence of individual suffrage. Until they do learn this they will never be fit for self-government, or to aid in the making of the laws of the Republic.

The Good Work of Paving.

It is encouraging to note the action of the City Council with reference to the improvement of our streets. There now seems to be hope that some of the many resolutions in regard to street-paving will materialize before the era of winter mud approaches, and that, when the rains do come, our streets will not be the sloughs that they have been in former years. These improvements should be pushed as rapidly as possible during the summer. The blessing of clean streets will be a thing that the people of Los Angeles will be able to appreciate after a life-long experience with summer's dust and winter's mud. There is no single improvement that will tend more to our prosperity than this. Give us the pavements as speedily as possible.

Amendment Number Three.

The telegraph brings the welcome news this morning that Constitutional Amendment No. 3, submitted to the people at the last election, was carried by a majority of 3535 votes. Returns are not yet in from the counties of Alpine, Del Norte, Fresno, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Trinity, but the result will be declared in default of reports from them. This amendment allows cities of 10,000 population and over to formulate charters of their own, which, upon approval by the Legislature and the Governor, shall form their fundamental law. This will be a great boon to cities like Los Angeles, which have floundered in the doldrums of insufficient municipal laws for years past, and which could not better their condition because the Constitution forbade special legislation, and no general charter was established for all cities of a particular class. Los Angeles can amend her present municipal law somewhat, and, if she is not obliged to hitch horses with Oakland or any other city that happens to fall in her class, will do very well with it.

AFTER two sad, somber and similar experiences with the orthodox way of doing it, the proprietors of the St. Charles Hotel might now profitably try the experiment of locking the clerk up in the safe, and leaving the valuables in charge of the combination.

THE bitterly disappointing result of "trying to run a nonpareil newspaper in a long primer town"—as Mark Twain or somebody else has described it—is illustrated in the valedictory of James C. Peacock, who has just retired from the Colton Semi-Tropic. The retiring, though not utterly desponding editor, says:

"I have struggled for eight long years to keep the paper afloat and in 'standing off' my creditors, and I leave the management of the paper at last with the proud consciousness that it is today on a solid, paying basis. But success has arrived too late for me to profit by the same, and I am forced, yes, literally forced, to engage in other pursuits which will turn me in more actual money and enable me to pay off the honest debts which I owe. Fortunately, my prospects are bright for being able to soon recover from the effects of having run a newspaper for eight years, and my hopes are high for a bright and prosperous future."

"No criminal in recent California history," says the San Francisco Chronicle, "has such amazing vitality as Pete Olsen. He has been captured in all parts of this State and Oregon; one innocent man has fallen a victim to the cupidity of his pursuers; he has been found dead a half-dozen times, but on each occasion the corpse has proved to be that of another man than the fugitive. The husband of Olsen's victim is now on his trail near Astoria, Or., while a report comes from Huron that one of the three bodies found on the desert, near that place, is believed to be 'Pete.' Meanwhile, the blood of the murdered woman calls aloud for vengeance, but the criminal appears to be as safely hidden from justice as Springer, or Hong Di, or the unknown murderer of Klumpke, in Sacramento." Since this was written, however, Hong Di has been captured. Perhaps the real, simon-pure Pete Olsen will come next.

AMUSEMENTS.

LEWIS MORRISON.—Lewis Morrison and his company will open at the Grand Opera-house next Monday night, on a week's engagement. Following is the repertoire: Monday and Tuesday evenings, A Celebrated Case; Wednesday and Thursday evenings, The Galley Slave; Friday evening and Saturday matinée, Won at Last; Saturday evening, Not Guilty.

The houses at the Grand during the engagement of Mme. Janish are slenderer than could be wished. The star is making a favorable impression, however, and will probably draw better as the week goes on.

From the Coffin to the Saddle.

The jockey Harris, who rode Richmond at the late Washington meeting, is the same who was so fearfully injured at Latonia last fall when his horse, which was at the time in front of thirteen others, fell with him, and then jumped up and dragged the unfortunate rider after him for about a furlong. "Centaur," in the Sporting World, gives the following particulars of the accident and the injury to the lad:

"I don't think the full facts, in Harris's marvelous escape, have ever been printed; hence a paragraph will be interesting. Harris was picked up for dead, and his body laid out and placed in a coffin. He was kept for a couple of days so as to enable his wife and her sister to attend the funeral. The night on which they arrived they were taken to the coffin. For some reason or other the attendant touched the eyelid and raised it. To everybody's horror the eye was seen to move. Harris was taken out of the coffin, and soon gave more pronounced manifestations of life. When he recovered consciousness entirely, however, it was found that he was insane.

He was placed in an insane asylum, where he remained for three months. His reason returned as suddenly as it had left him. But his memory is a complete blank for the three horrible months. All he remembers is putting on the colors for the race. After that he has forgotten everything up to the time he regained his mental faculties in the asylum."

Truth and Immortality.

The lecture of John Shirley Ward at the First Presbyterian Church last evening was not largely attended, unfortunately, as the address was one of intelligence and interest. The subject was, "Truth Is the Immortality of Literature." The lecturer went over the entire scope of historic literature, and from many interesting illustrations proved the truth of his subject. He dwelt particularly on the Bible, a work of literature made immortal by the inspired truth it contained. He compared Shakespeare with the poetry found in Isaiah and the wisdom found in Solomon. He extended the scope of his subject to art, and proved that the greatest paintings and the greatest compositions of music had been founded on truth, mostly sacred and taken from the Bible. Mr. Ward is a very elderly man, and his lecture was apparently the result of long years of study and research.

A Bad Practice.

There is much complaint, especially among the ladies, about the prevalence of smoking upon the front platforms of the open street-cars. The rules of the company forbid this ill-mannered practice, but the drivers do not frequently enforce the rule.

After the Smugglers.

J. Marion Brooks, United States District Attorney, goes to San Diego this afternoon at 5 o'clock, to look after the bold smugglers of that bad city. He has been ordered there by the department.

Los Angeles National Bank.

The report of the condition of the Los Angeles National Bank shows that popular institution in a most prosperous state, with resources of over two and a quarter million dollars.

"Impressions."

Ex-Mayor E. F. Spence will deliver a lecture on Friday evening at the Grace M. E. Curch, on First street, on the subject of "Impressions." The lecture will be free and all are invited.

First National Bank.

The directors of the First National Bank publish their report of its condition—a most sound and gratifying one. Its resources aggregate $3,297,943.95.

OLIVE LEAVES.

Notes from the Hanna College for Young Ladies.

The latest issue of the Olive Leaf—the bright periodical of the Hanna College girls—contains the following items of general interest:

The lower corridor of the gymnasium is almost daily lined with visitors.

Miss Bertie Clark and Miss Maud Remick left us on Tuesday, May 10th, for their home, in Lincoln, Neb.

Prof. Foss has awarded prizes to Misses Lyman and Rives, the successful competitors in the weekly musical contests.

The Olive Leaf paid into the treasury of the Flower Festival Society $46.50, the net proceeds of the sale of the paper for two afternoons and evenings.

On the evening of May 13th Mr. and Mrs. Hanna gave an informal reception to the young ladies of the household. The event celebrated the twenty-ninth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna's marriage. A few guests from a distance were visiting at the college, and a pleasant programme, musical and elocutionary, was rendered. A toast to the bride and bridegroom was responded to by some interesting reminiscences by both, and, altogether, the evening passed off most agreeably.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Hazard's Pavilion, on the corner of Fifth and Olive streets, has been engaged for Friday evening, June 3d, for the the undergraduates' entertainment. The programme will consist of selections from Erminie, recitations and a grand gymnastic drill. The Seventh Infantry band will furnish the music for the drill.

The commencement exercises of College of Music will be held in the First Presbyterian Church Friday evening, June 10th.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by the Rev. W. B. Stradley in Trinity Methodist Church, Sunday evening, June 12th.

The commencement exercises of the class of '87 will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Tuesday evening, June 14th.

The catalogues for the year just closed are in course of preparation, and will be ready for distribution by the end of the term.

The sixth and last number of the Olive Leaf for this school year will appear June 15th. It will contain a full account of the undergraduates' and commencement exercises, the vacation plans of the faculty and students, and other matter of interest to the college, public and friends.

ENTIRELY INADEQUATE.

Rich and Growing Pasadena's Microscopic Police Force.

A TIMES reporter who was in Pasadena yesterday, had a conversation with City Marshal Mundell, the Pooh-Bah of the Crown of the Valley. He is not only City Marshal, but also Tax Collector, court officer, Chief of Police, police force, etc., etc., a combination of offices which brings him in the princely revenue of $65 per month. His sole assistant in preserving the peace and property of a city of 6000 or more people is a night watchman, who is supposed to cover the twelve square miles of Pasadena's golden property once every hour during the night; who also lights the street lamps, is poundkeeper and royal guardian of the hounds. He gets $75 per month.

Marshal Mundell thought the article on the nervy Pasadena burglary—reported exclusively in yesterday's TIMES—reflected upon him. A more careful reading would have shown him that it did not. Pasadena officers were not mentioned at all. The trouble was all in Los Angeles. Marshal Mundell does his best to hold down lawbreakers; and would succeed better if he were better backed by his fellow citizens. There is little trouble with the residents of Pasadena, and little need of officers to restrain them. Few cities in the world can show a population averaging so high in point of intelligence, sobriety and good order. The city is a wealthy one, however, and naturally attracts the attentions of cracksmen and sneak-thieves from San Francisco and Los Angeles. It will prove a false economy if Pasadena do not take steps to defend herself against these midnight visitors. Marshal Mundell should be given a sufficient force to hold down the tramps and burglars. The justice of this advice becomes the more evident when it is known that within the past few weeks there have been fifty burglaries and only two or three arrests.

WALRATH'S WOE.

His Ex-partners Charge Him with Embezzlement.

Royal Walrath, whose first name should bring better things, was charged by A. J. Spencer, on Monday, with having embezzled $10 from Kincaid & Johnston. The complaint was made in Justice Taney's court. A warrant was issued, on which Walrath was arrested yesterday by Officer Jackson. He was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for Thursday next at 2 o'clock, and in default of $50 bail, he was sent to jail.

Up to within a few weeks ago Walrath was a partner of Messrs. Kinckade & Johnson, who are doing a general merchandise business at Long Beach. When he sold out he kept a number of bills, which he collected. The firm claim that he not only collected the bills, or several of them, but also forgot to turn the money over to them. He left for the East, and they only learned the other day that he was in this city. The complaint was placed in the hands of Officer Jackson, Monday evening, and he succeeded in finding his man at the Grand Central Hotel yesterday morning, at 7:30 o'clock. Walrath has employed counsel, and threatens to make things very warm for the firm.

PETRIE.

The Victim of the Vitriol Horror Convalescent.

Petrie, the victim of Mrs. Rozelle's wrath, was visited at Sister Mary's Hospital, on Olive street, yesterday afternoon, by Constable Ed Smith, who made the arrest, and Deputy District Attorney Denis. They found him sitting up and apparently in good spirits. His face has about healed up with the exception of a spot on the forehead, which is covered with sticking-plaster. He will not lose his sight, and from the appearance of his face his beauty will not be marred to any great extent. He seemed to be greatly surprised to learn that Mrs. Rozelle had not made any statement to representatives of the press. He said he would have kept his mouth shut, but he was told that the woman had made a statement which was very damaging to him. The District Attorney asked him a few questions as to what his testimony would be, and Petrie seemed to be very much afraid that the Rozelles will bring a number of women and girls into court as witnesses against him. He will be taken to the house on College street, where the act was commited this morning, when he will explain to the District Attorney how the vitriol was thrown. He will be able to appear in court on Friday.

Selling Whisky to Indians.

José Salino, one of the men who was arrested at San Bernardino the other day by Deputy United States Marshal Dunlap for selling liquor to Indians, was before the United States Circuit Court yesterday morning. He was examined and held to answer with bail fixed at $100. District Attorney Brooks informed a TIMES reporter that the Marshal is after a number of people who sell whisky to Indians, and expects to have them in the County Jail very soon.

Los Angeles Not Liable for Losses Caused by Floods.

Elsinore Strikers Refuse to Let Chinamen Do Their Work—Capture of the Murderer of Young Heritage—More Smallpox at San Francisco.

By Telegraph to The Times.

ILWACO (Wash.), May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The town is endeavoring today to obtain some clews to the perpetrators of a dastardly outrage and wanton destruction of valuable property. Last night, between 10 and 11 o'clock, the occupants of Colbert's scow, Miller, Murray and Russ, were aroused by a body of masked desperadoes, and ordered to dress at once. At the points of revolvers the men dressed as quickly as possible. The maskers immediately set fire to the scow. A large lifting skiff, loaded with trap-webs, was also fired. Russ was hurried away in one of the swarm of fishing boats that were among the attacking party, and taken over to Daniel Markham's traps, and forced, at the point of a pistol, to cut the trap away. Afterward he was taken to the Graham Bros.' scow, off Sand Island, and left there. Miller was compelled by the same methods to destroy and mutilate as much as possible of Colbert's piledriver; in other words, to abuse the property of his employer. After that he was carried to Sand Island and left with Russ.

Murray was forced into a small skiff and taken a short distance away. The oars were taken away and the skiff was anchored and left. A boat returning from the cape with a theater party picked him up. The estimated damage to Colbert's property is $2000. The fleet of boats continued on up the river, cutting and destroying webs and traps on their way. After that orders were given to separate and disappear in the darkness.

In town the blazing scow attracted the attention of some one, who aroused the town by ringing the school bell. The citizens rushed out armed, but it was too late, the ruin was accomplished and the miscreants had sailed away. Russ was told that there were 200 boats engaged in this work. Great anxiety was felt for the fate of Miller and Russ, who did not show up until 6 a.m. Further trouble is feared, and should another effort be made to destroy any more traps it is predicted that there will be bloodshed.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Another Case of Smallpox Discovered on the Steamer Gaelic.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The quarantine officer, while searching among the Chinese on board the quarantined steamship Gaelic, this afternoon, discovered a fresh case of smallpox. He immediately informed the health officer, who removed the patient to the pesthouse. The development of a new case of the disease will prevent the departure of the 1110 Chinese that are in transit at least two weeks.

LATEST SMUGGLING DEVICE.

Chinese opium-smugglers have resorted to a new method of violating the customs laws. It is believed that large quantities of opium are taken to Southern California points in lumber and coal ships from Victoria.

JIMMY HOPE'S CASE.

Judge Toohey this morning denied the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Jimmy Hope, the famous burglar, and remanded him to the custody of Parsons and Rogers, the New York detectives. Hope will probably be taken East tomorrow.

THE MASONIC EXCURSION.

The Masonic excursion party, composed of prominent Masons of the State, left this afternoon for the Hawaiian Islands on the steamer Australia.

A MURDERER CAPTURED.

The Slayer of Young Heritage Arrested—His Story.

POINT ARENA, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Giancoli, the Italian who killed William R. Heritage here last Sunday night, was captured near Gualala tonight by two men named Loweyri and Bryones. The prisoner called at a lady's house and asked for something to eat. She gave it to him, and thinking that he might be the slayer of young Heritage, she spread the alarm. Meanwhile, Giancoli had started to a place called Black Point, taking the trail leading from the Gualala River, instead of the road. Just as he was emerging from the trail into the country road Loweyri and Bryones came along and recognized him at once, and ordered him to surrender. He gave himself up without resistance. At first he denied all knowledge of the crime, but finally admitted that he was the man. He said that Heritage knocked him down, and was beating him, when he drew a knife and stabbed him, but he did not think he had killed him.

TROUBLE AT ELSINORE.

White Strikers Forcibly Prevent Chinese from Taking Their Places.

SAN DIEGO, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Two or three days ago the white men employed on the brickyards at Elsinore, this county, struck for an advance in wages. The proprietors of the yards telegraphed to this city for Chinamen to take their places. When the white men heard of the proposed invasion of Chinese, they held a meeting and resolved to allow none to go to work. About a dozen Chinamen arrived at the depot at Elsinore, but before they could go to work they were waited on by thirty or forty men and boys, armed with guns and pistols, and ordered to get out. They were told that they would be hung if they remained over night, which so scared them that they took the first train for San Diego. Their baggage was treated rather roughly, but otherwise no harm was done and their return fares were paid by the strikers.

LATEST RUMOR.

San Diego to Have a Line of Steamers to the Sandwich Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] A company is said to be forming in San Diego to establish a line of steamers between that place and Honolulu. According to reports current in this city the promoters of the enterprise will have the assistance of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway, that company expecting to secure part of the through passenger travel from the Hawaiian Islands to the East, and guaranteeing better time than is now made by the Oceanic Company and Southern Pacific. The company is to have four fast iron steamships of medium size, especially fitted for the accommodation of passengers, and will compete for a share of the mail contracts. An official of the Oceanic Company, in an interview this afternoon, discredited the rumor.

NOT LIABLE.

Los Angeles Need Not Pay for Losses Caused by Floods.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The appeal for a new trial in the case of Alfred Moore against the city of Los Angeles has been denied by the Supreme Court. The suit was for damages sustained to property by the overflow of the Los Angeles River during the great floods there last year. The court, however, has held that the city is not responsible for the floods, although it does control the right to convert the water, as they are apt to occur at any time.

An Alcalde Assassinated.

NOGALES (Ariz.), May 24.—Escobosa, the Alcalde of Ingris Station, thirty miles south of this place, was assassinated on Sunday night by unknown parties. At a late hour he was called out of his house and shot through the breast. He died almost instantly. Judge Escobosa was one of the best known lawyers in Northwestern Sonora, and held several high official positions. A political difference is supposed to have been the cause of the assassination.

EDITOR O'BRIEN.

He Denies that Shots Were Fired from His Carriage at the Hamilton Mob—His Life Threatened.

By Telegraph to The Times.

HAMILTON (Ont.), May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The Hamilton Spectator, in its account of what occurred last night, asserts that shots were fired from O'Brien's carriage before the attacking crowd touched a trigger. Speaking of this matter, O'Brien said that it was the most malignant statement yet made.

"In your opinion, now, will this statement affect the remainder of your tour?"

"So far as it relates to the Canadian cities which I have yet to visit it may have a most dangerous and alarming result. It must be written with some purpose of inviting attack in Montreal. I feel perfectly at ease, though."

O'Brien lay in bed till mid-day, acting on the advice of his physicians.

A THREATENING LETTER.

NIAGARA FALLS (N. Y.), May 24—William O'Brien arrived here this evening from Hamilton, Ontario, on his way to Montreal. Today, in Hamilton, the following letter was handed him. It was posted in East Syracuse, N. Y., May 19th, and has traveled to all the towns where Mr. O'Brien had visited, reaching him at Hamilton finally:

"EAST SYRACUSE (N. Y.), May 18.—Piece of advice to William O'Brien: You black-hearted Irish fool, if you ever make your appearance in Kingston or Ottawa your blood will run cold. Take my advice, and go back to your black Irish home. I will be there in less than forty-eight hours."

"This letter," said Mr. O'Brien, "portends something dangerous. I don't, as a rule, care much about threatening letters, but the man who wrote that is just the sort of a fellow as the one who shot at me last night."

ARIZONA.

California Capitalists Taking Stock in the Territory.

PHŒNIX (Ariz.), May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The Arizona Improvement Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The incorporators are J. de Barth Shorb, Frederick W. Sharon, William Christy and Clark Churchill. The principal place of business will be Phœnix. The business of the company, according to the articles of incorporation, includes the acquiring and taking, in a lawful manner, of water and lands in almost every possible way, the handling of almost all kinds of personal property, real and mixed, the purchase of capital stock, franchises and books of the corporations, erecting, maintaining and operating of electrical apparatus for lighting purposes, driving machinery, etc., carrying on the business of banking, and acting as common carriers. The capital stock of the company is placed at $3,000,000, in 30,000 shares. The company represents leading capitalists of San Francisco, Chicago, Los Angeles, and this Territory. The Board of Directors organized with the following officers: J. de Barth Shorb, president; A. J. Murphy, first vice-president; F. A. Sharon, second vice-president; Clark Churchill, third vice-president; William Christy, general manager; C. C. Churchill, general solicitor; W. D. Fulwiler, secretary. The Valley Bank, of Phœnix, is the bank of deposit.

SLAUGHTERED BRAVES.

Politics Cause Bloodshed in the Choctaw Nation.

PARIS (Tex.), May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] News was received here yesterday of trouble that has caused five deaths, and which is likely to cause more bloodshed, over in the Choctaw Nation. Two weeks ago two men named Wilson saw two Choctaw Indians killed in a row over an election, Deputy Sheriff Pence killing the Sheriff-elect, who has been missing. On Friday the bodies of three men were found near Dockville, one of which is supposed to be that of the newly-elected Sheriff. His friends, all well armed, are searching for him, and there are fears of an outbreak.

Southern Pacific's Line to San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, May 24.—A party of about fourteen Southern Pacific surveyors arrived in this city last night in charge of C. R. Rockford, assistant engineer. Mr. Rockford stated this afternoon that he had directed the survey from Oceanside to San Diego, and that it was completed. The route staked out is from Oceanside to Buena Vista, thence through Murphy's cañon, entering the Mission Valley and down the San Diego River to Old San Diego, thence following the bay shore and paralleling the California Southern to this city. The party left on the Queen of the Pacific tonight for San Francisco.

The Amendment Carried.

SACRAMENTO, May 24.—Amendment No. 3 to the Constitution of the State, contrary to all general expectation, has been carried by a majority of 3535. No returns have been received from the counties of Alpine, Del Norte, Fresno, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Trinity, some of which held no elections. The Secretary of State will not wait any longer for further possible returns on this amendment. The amendment was in reference to charters for cities over 10,000 in population.

A Train Robber Caught.

AUSTIN (Tex.), May 24.—The Chief of Police arrested a man in this city last night suspected of being one of the train-robbers. It is reported that he has made some startling disclosures which will involve some well-known men and implicate at least one officer as having planned and engineered the whole affair from the beginning.

Grevy Asks Floquet to Try His Hand at Making a Cabinet.

The Czar Concludes to Go Home and Keep Out of the Way of Nihilists—The Cambridge Boat Crew Anxious to Race with Harrard

By Telegraph to The Times.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Owing to the neglect of the government in not enforcing vaccination and isolation, and in not disinfecting the several smallpox centers already reported in this city, there has been a spreading of the disease, and, as anticipated, an epidemic is upon us. Today it is estimated that there are fully 500 cases here within the city limits properly, apart from those outside. The death-rate is estimated to be as high as 60 per cent., due to the fact that some 35,000 of the population of 40,000 are wholly unprotected by vaccination. Owing to the rapid spread of the disease, new foci are being established in this city, in localities hitherto free from the disease, and the whole city will be infected. Medical men believe that thousands will be swept away unless thorough and effective measures are adopted.

OTHER FOREIGN NEWS.

Belgian Strikers Take the Offensive, but Are Suppressed.

BRUSSELS, May 24.—[By Cable and the Associated Press.] The Charleroi strikers attempted to carry out their threatened march on Brussels, but were charged by the gendarmes just after starting and dispersed. No blood was shed.

GREVY APPEALS TO FLOQUET.

PARIS, May 24.—In view of the failure of all combinations to effect a settlement of the Ministerial question, President Grevy has recalled M. Floquet, and appealed to his patriotism to form a Cabinet. Floquet asked for twenty-four hours to consider the matter.

TIRED OF BEING A TARGET.

ODESSA, May 24.—The Czar has returned to St. Petersburg from the Don Cossack country three days earlier than he intended, owing to an attempt made by a student to kill him on Wednesday night during the festivities at Novo-Tcherkask, by firing at him as he rode by in the carriage.

ANOTHER PRIEST RELEASED.

DUBLIN, May 24.—Judge Boyd today ordered the release of Father Ryan and Father Slattery, imprisoned for refusing to testify in regard to the plan of campaign. The release was due to a decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of Father Kelly.

LONDON, May 24.—A dynamite bomb was exploded under the Police Court at Hepburn, Durham county, last night, partially destroying the building. The outrage is attributed to strikers.

CAMBRIDGE TO ROW HARVARD.

LONDON, May 24.—The Cambridge University crew have agreed to row Harvard if the necessary funds to cover the expenses of the trip to America can be raised.

EX-SECRETARY MANNING.

LONDON, May 24.—Ex-Secretary Manning will sail for New York June 1st. His health is much improved.

The Cause of His Suicide.

SAN JOSE, May 24.—It now transpires that there was a stronger motive for the suicide of W. L. Pauser than his slight indebtedness to the New Zealand Insurance Company, as letters have been received here by Sheriff Sweighert from T. A. Davis, of Union, Iowa, charging Pauser with embezzling $2000 from him. There is reason to believe that Davis had previously written to Pauser, threatening him with arrest if a satisfactory settlement were not made.

An Irrigation Case Decided.

VISALIA, May 24.—Today Judge Cross, after hearing testimony as to the volume of water flowing in King's River, dismissed the contempt proceedings against the Fowler-Switz Canal Company, and the Centreville and Kingsburg Ditch companies. The effect of his ruling is that the ditch companies can divert water when there is plenty of water in the river for all.

Cleveland's Adirondack Trip.

BURLINGTON (Vt.), May 24.—The Presidential party will pass through this city about 10 o'clock on Friday morning next. It is announced that the train will stop here for a few minutes, and that the President will show himself to the people. The party will go directly through to Prospect House, in the Adirondacks, arriving there Friday night.

A Suspended Firm's Debts.

PORTLAND (Or.), May 24.—Levi Strauss, assignee of the claims of various San Francisco firms, commenced suit in the State Circuit Court today, against Luis Hartman, dry goods merchant, recently closed by attachment, to recover $16,637. The liabilities of Hartman amount to about $56,000.

A Mill Burned.

PORTLAND (Or.), May 24.—The flour and sawmill owned by George Barr, of Lacenter (Wash.), was burned on Saturday night. Loss $5000, with no insurance. The fire was caused by cinders lodging in the moss on the roof.

Talk of Lynching.

NAPA, May 24.—Yesterday, near Yountville, a man named Springman attempted a criminal assault upon Mrs. McVicker, at Cotfries' ranch. The miscreant was caught and locked in jail. There is some talk of lynching.

Killed by a Fall.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Norcom L. Seguin, manager of the Philadelphia Umbrella Company, is reported to have embezzled $85,000 of funds held in trust by him and has run away.

The Queen's Birthday.

NEW YORK, May 24.—All of the British steamships in the harbor today were gay with bunting in honor of the Queen's birthday, including the damaged Celtic and Britannic.

Plenty of Quakes.

NOGALES (Ariz.), May 24.—At 9:30 last night thirteen slight shocks of earthquake were felt here. Two hours afterward three other shocks were felt, but no damage was done.

The Fires Extinguished.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Rains during the past few days throughout the Northwest have extinguished most of the forest fires, which have been so destructive of late.

SEASON'S SPORTS.

Latonia Races—A California Balltosser to Play in New York—Polo at San Luis Obispo.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CINCINNATI, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The second day at Latonia brought a fine attendance. The weather was pleasant. The track, from last night's rain, was slow.

Seven furlongs—W. H. H. won, Tony Pastor second, Faith Thompson third. Time, 1:35¼.

For maiden 3-year-olds and upwards, one mile—Unit won, Cheatfellow second, Girola third. Time, 1:52¾.

For fillies, 2 years old and upward, five furlongs—Mirth won, Helen Brooks second, Orange Girl third. Time, 1:07.

Mile and one-sixteenth—Moore won, Rio Grande second, Lepanto third. Time, 1:55.

For 2-year-olds, six furlongs—The start was an exceedingly unsatisfactory one. When the flag fell Ocean and Huntress were beyond the pole, while the rest were in the rear, Caststeel being practically left at the post. In consequence of this the timers took no time. Ocean won, Huntress second, Winona third. Much dissatisfaction was expressed, and it was claimed that it should be declared no race, but the judges, after a short parley, declared the winners.

POLO AT SAN LUIS OBISPO.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 24.—The game of polo here today was very exciting and attracted a large attendance. It was English, on English saddles, against Californians, on California saddles. The challenge came from the Englishmen and was to celebrate the Queen's birthday. The English used two horses each and the Californians one. Four games were played, the English winning one, the Californians two, and in the fourth, when the Californians had the ball within five feet of the goal, time was called and the game decided a draw. The sport lasted two hours. Several narrow escapes occurred and the horses and men were completely exhausted.

A FAIR START.

How Charley Was Cured of an Unhappy Tendency.

[R. J. Burdette in the Brooklyn Eagle.]

When Mr. and Mrs. Callboard returned from their wedding journey, they settled right down to housekeeping. Happier doves never nestled in a flat, and Mrs. Callboard determined to make home happy for Charley from the start. No future misunderstanding should arise in their domestic arrangements if her wisdom and tact could prevent. When they sat down to their first meal Nellie helped him to an opaque slab of something about an inch thick, that fell on the table with a dull, sickening thud. "There is some home-made bread like your mother used to make, Charley, dear," she said, sweetly. "I learned how to make that solid circle of roller composition around the middle of the loaf when we were stopping at her house last week; if you should ever want a change I can make bread whiter than snow and lighter than sea foam, but this is the kind your mother makes, and I thought you might like it the first day to keep you from getting homesick."

"That nice cake," she added, seeing him thoughtfully endeavoring to indent with his fork a dark-brown pyramid of elastic concrete, "is a cake such as your Aunt Ellen used to make. I got the prescription from her. I don't eat it myself, but it is said to be harmless if not taken to excess. These irregular fragments of leather belting are doughnuts, like those your grandmother makes; she taught me how to make them, and I had a coroner's permit to make these. Those ghastly remains on the platter are all that is left of the holocaust; that is the chicken roasted after the favorite prescription of your sister Jane. And this, Charley, dear," she continued, pouring out a coal-black liquid, not quite so thick as the Missouri River, but far more odorous, "this is coffee like you used to get at home. I make all these things somewhat differently for myself and will use my own receipts as a rule, after this, but any time you want things as you used to have them at home, dear, I can fill every prescription in the pharmacopœia, and don't you forget it." And he didn't. That was twenty-six years ago, and not one of the six young Callboards can remember ever to have heard their father so much as refer to the doughnuts his grandmother used to make when he was a boy.

As Editor Boruck Sees It.

[Spirit of the Times.]

When a virtuous woman goes into a bath she generally leaves the door of the bathroom open or unlocked; and when she leaves her bath and proceeds to array herself in her femininities, she usually sounds a gong, and invites her neighbors in to witness the event; and, being impartial, invites both sexes. And, if she is in the mood, and one of the opposite sex comes in, she usually throws a cup of vitriol in his face, with the remark, "Oh, you saucy rascal, aren't you ashamed!" This is what Mrs. Rozelle did to establish her virtue.

A New Move in the Litigation Over Telephone Patents.

Maj. Poore's Condition Reported Worse—Treasurer Hyatt Enters on His Duties—Official Announcement of Yellow Fever at Key West—National Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The competitive drill of infantry began a few minutes past 10 o'clock this morning. The competing companies were limited in number to twenty-four men each, with three officers and two guides. The programme of maneuvers was to be given to each company commander one hour before the time allotted for the corps' appearance. Thirty minutes were alloted to each company to complete its programme.

The eighth separate company of New York, the "Select Citizens' Corps, of Rochester," appeared and succeeded toward the end of its performance in getting within eye-shot of the spectators. Its fine appearance and excellent practice, especially in company firing, were matters of general comment. A number of western companies also made a fine appearance and were well applauded.

Interest in the day's proceedings culminated in the performance of the Keek Zouaves, of Johnstown, N. Y. Their skirmish and bayonet drills were marvels of precision, while their unique evolutions in close order rivaled the spectacular performances of the stage. A furious thunder and wind storm came up about 4 o'clock and put an end to the proceedings. The crowd scattered at once. The roof was blown off and a large part of the grand stand and the canvas rent.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Garland Says He Does Not Wish to Be a Supreme Justice.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Atty.-Gen. Garland today talked freely with a reporter of the Associated Press concerning his supposed candidacy for the vacant position on the Supreme Bench. After saying, "I do not want the place, and would not take it if offered me," Garland said that, after his last reëlection to the Senate, he had formed a resolution to retire from public life and place, and that at the end of the term, which will expire with the close of this Administration, he has so shaped his affairs as to carry out this resolution.

TELEPHONE LITIGATION.

Principal Examiner Brown, of the division of electricity in the Patent Office, today heard argument on behalf of Prof. A. Graham Bell in opposition to the application of Prof. Elisha Gray, for permission to amend his original application for a patent in the celebrated telephone interference case of Bell vs. Gray, Edison, McDonough et. al., upon which a decision adverse to Gray was rendered in 1879. Roscoe Conkling and James J. Storrow, of New York, appeared for Bell, and Casey Young, of Washington, appeared for Gray. It is stated that if the application is granted the amendment will so broaden the scope of Gray's invention as to result in a new interference, and hence in reopening the whole case in which, in 1879, Bell was declared to be the prior inventor. Decision was reserved.

CLEVELAND'S PROPOSED TRIP.

According to the present arrangements, the President will be at Mt. Washington Thursday evening, in a special car, and will proceed at once to Saranac Lake, in the Adirondacks. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and Col. and Mrs. Lamont, and expects to return to Washington inside of two weeks.

SHOOTING A GAS WELL.

Description of the Process of Cleaning the Shaft.

[Kokomo (Ind.) Dispatch.]

"By George, sir, if that stuff was to explode, it would blow us all to kingdom come!"

Everybody eyed the bit of white tarpaulin and the four innocent-looking cans it covered suspiciously, and of one accord withdrew to a safer distance. Each of the cans contained eight quarts of nitro-glycerine, fetched overland from Lima, O., by Jim Callihan, representing the Hercules Torpedo Company of that place, to shoot the Junction gas well.

A large crowd had gathered at the gas well Saturday morning, watching every movement with an interest born of curiosity that brooks all danger to satisfy itself in the minutest detail. The big drill was withdrawn and fastened at the point to the the casing-head. Lashed to it was a strong steel pulley, through which ran a light line, extending from an iron reel made fast to the arm of the great walking-beam and terminating in an iron hook. To this hook was attached a large tin vessel resembling in shape a monster syringe. Here began the most dangerous part of the work, and the spectators were warned to leave the ground. The cans were brought into the derrick and thirty-two quarts of the terrible explosive, formed by treating glycerine with concentrated sulphuric and nitric acids, were carefully poured into the tin torpedo. This was slowly lowered into the well by aid of the reel, great care being taken to see that it did not jar violently against the casing and cause a premature explosion. When the bottom of the well was reached the hook was swung loose and the line drawn out. Callighan then filled another tin vessel of smaller capacity, shaped very much like a gun-cartridge, and attached to it a detonating fuse. The glycerine cans, containing the small residue of the explosive, were removed to a place of safety. Callighan then entered the derrick with his "go-devil," coolly lighted the fuse from his cigar, dropped it in the well, and slowly walked a few rods away. Everybody held their breath and waited. A minute passed—two—three. Inexperienced persons thought the shot had failed, and approached nearer the well. Presently there was a dull, heavy thud, much like striking a meal-bag with one's closed fist. There was a slight tremor of the earth, barely perceptible to those nearest the well. Then followed another wait of fifteen seconds, when a great volume of black colored water shot up, up away over the derrick, a hundred feet in all, falling with a great shower of stones and drenching the more venturesome spectators who rushed toward the well.

The effect of the shot was at once discernible. The well was a good one before, but the deep, sullen roar from the five and five-eigths inch casting announced a find, perhaps, exceeding in volume any well yet drilled in the Kokomo field. When the union was put on, and connection with a two-inch pipe made, the roar increased into a hoarse scream, almost drowning the mighty shout that went up when the gas was lighted, throwing out a flame nearly to the top of the derrick.

Two Artists—Sullivan and Bernhardt.

[San Francisco Post.]

The news, therefore, that Mr. Sullivan is negotiating with a fresh competitor for the pugilistic championship does not fall upon indifferent ears. San Francisco has watched his career with keen and critical interest. The champion's style of art bears little resemblance to that of Bernhardt. It differs in kind as well as in degree, but in each there is that consummate finish, that impassioned force and that easy mastery of technique which imply genius trained and directed by arduous culture. Between the exponents of branches so different there is really no basis of comparison. We can no more say that Bernhardt is greater than Sullivan or Sullivan than Bernhardt than we can say that Mozart is greater than Herbert Spencer. Each has a peculiar sphere, and fills it easily and perfectly.

If we were to ask which was the more popular of these two artists in this city, the answer would be simpler. There can be no possible doubt that Sullivan would fill a larger house at a higher price than Bernhardt. There is something about his style of art, in its directness and simple force, which appeals powerfully to the popular heart. Besides, he has the advantage of acting in a language which all can understand, while Bernhardt speaks a foreign tongue, and, as we have before remarked, does not speak even that in the mode familiar to the wealth, and, therefore, the intelligence of San Francisco.

Mitigating Circumstances.

[Detroit Free Press.]

"It's all his fault, your Honor!" exclaimed a wife as she was arraigned in the Police Court the other day. "Whose fault?" "My husband's." "How's that?" "Well, sir, he came home half tight just as I had finished a hard day's work and was making my supper off of cold potatoes. I felt mad and desperate, and he began to argue about heaven." "What did he say?" "He said there was no such place, nor hades, either, and he argued the case so well that I believed him." "And then what?" "And then, sir, thinking that if that was the case I might as well waltz in and have a good time on earth, I picked up a stick of wood and run the old man all over the neighborhood and made him roar for mercy." Sentence suspended, owing to mitigating circumstances.

FLOWER FESTIVAL.

THE SANTA ANA SHOW CLOSES IN A BLAZE OF GLORY.

The Proceeds Thought to Be Over $1000—Compliments Paid to the Enterprise of "The Times"—A Scene of Beauty.

The great Floral Festival of Santa Ana closed Saturday evening. The occasion is one long to be remembered by all who enjoyed the privilege of attending. Spurgeon's large hall was totally inadequate for the occasion, in fact, the Los Angeles room would be none too large to comfortably accommodate the crowd which assembled. Hundreds were compelled to go away on Saturday evening, unable to effect an entrance. The booths, which were lovely and grand from the first evening, were continually being improved until toward the last they really presented a spectacle of floral grandeur never surpassed and seldom equaled even in this flowery kingdom of Los Angeles. Well may the people of Santa Ana Valley feel proud of the results of so much hard labor and untiring energy of their fairest ladies. They have reason to be proud. The ladies of the W. C. T. U., under whose auspices this brilliant show was held, have won lasting laurels, no small portion of which, however, belong to their outside friends, of both sexes, who so readily responded to their call for help.

The proceeds of this gorgeous entertainment are to go toward erecting a building for a free reading-room and temperance hall. A nobler purpose can hardly be conceived, and with such a fine start and so universal a sentiment in its favor, there can be no doubt but ere long Santa Ana will have what every town and city ought to have—a room where strangers and loiterers can pass a social, instructive hour without the resort to the saloon, which seems, in many places, to be the only place open to the wayfarer and stranger. The exact proceeds are not yet known, but enough is known that it can safely be said it is over $1000.

The president and general manager of this affair, Mrs. Van Cleve, desires us to thank those who so nobly, ably, enthusiastically and successfully assisted in the work. To specify particularly would occupy much space, for it includes many, but she conveys "especial thanks to THE TIMES for its great interest, manifested by so liberal a report. Also, to express many thanks to its gentlemanly representative, J. C. Gormley, who, with much trouble, patience and ability, wrote it up so fully and satisfactorily."

One of the artists of Santa Ana took some views of the various booths, and, though he printed them by the hundred, they were all sold immediately as each batch reached the hall; but nothing sold so readily as the copies of THE TIMES containing the description of the whole affair up to Wednesday noon.

The talk is already strong for another one, and it is generally understood that a regular Flower Festival will hereafter be held in Santa Ana every year. THE TIMES wishes them a continued success.

LORDSBURG.

Arrangements for the Excursion Today.

The excursion to Lordsburg, the coming railroad junction and metropolis of the foothills belt, takes place today. Those who wish to be early upon the ground should take the 8:30 a.m. train by the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley line—depot at the end of Downey-avenue bridge. Another and little later way of going will be by the Southern Pacific train, which leaves at 9:10. Get off at Pomona, and free carriages will be in waiting to take passengers to Lordsburg, four miles distant. A fine lunch is to be served at 12 o'clock or soon thereafter, and a band will be in attendance to season the food with melody. Those who purchase at the sale are entitled to deduct the cost of their railroad tickets.

600,000 Feet

Of thoroughly seasoned finishing lumber, comprising ceiling, rustic, wainscoting and casing stock, is now being unloaded at our various yards. This lumber is all first-class and very dry.

EAST LOS ANGELES LUMBER YARD.
WASHINGTON-STREET LUMBER YARD.

To whom it may concern: As you keep pace with the pushing of the California Central to Ballona Harbor, and note the rapid progression of the harbor itself, don't fail to notice, also, the particular bearing which these enterprises have on the value of Hyde Park lands, through which this important railroad runs. There are choice lots and acre property yet at first prices—namely, $100 each for the lots and $200 per acre for the villa property. See the advertisement in another column.

WHITMAN'S NEW GUARANTEED SUPERIOR TO ANY LEVER PRESS NOW MADE REBOUND PLUNGER

DOUBLE-ACTING, CONTINUOUS,
HAY, STRAW, & WOOL PRESS

READ THE FOLLOWING:

EL CAJON, San Diego Co., Cal., Aug. 1, 1885.

Whitman Agricultural Co., St. Louis, Mo.—GENTLEMEN: We have pressed 400 tons with our "Improved Whitman's Hay Press" this season, in 18x22 press, in about two months' running. We have pressed from eight to fourteen tons a day in grass hay; from eight to ten tons a day with ease. We have pressed in grain hay eight tons in six hours, just to see what the press would do. In grain hay the bales run from 180 to 240 pounds. We have pressed 190 pounds with ten feeds, which the Dederick press cannot do, because their feed-box is not so large as ours. The bales made by our Whitman press are much smoother and more sightly than bales made by the Dederick press. We have pressed twenty bales an hour, averaging 150 pounds to the bale, in wild oats hay. We pressed hay this year upon the same ranch where the Dederick Over Circle press baled last year. Their bales weighed 85 to 125 pounds; our bales weighed 125 to 190 pounds. In testimony that the foregoing statement is true, the undersigned crew running the "Whitman Improved Perpetual Hay Press" belonging to Gregg Bros., El Cajon, San Diego county, Cal., have hereunto set our hands and seals the day and date first above written. EDWIN E. GREGG, SYDNEY H. GREGG, FRANK BURNHAM, JOHN O'CONNELL, FRANK KHIENER.

California Remedies of Sarsfield Remedies Co.

Sarsfield's Remedy for the Blood and Constipation.
Sarsfield's Remedy for Diphtheria and Pneumonia.
Sarsfield's Chronic Ulcer Salve

These remedies are well known in Central and Northern California, and are now introduced in the southern counties. The MAKING OF CERTIFICATES has related so largely to fraud that the public has naturally grown suspicious of them. But those here referred to are by such prominent citizens, of such irreproachable character, and the cures are so well known, and the witnesses are so easy to reach, that we make the references without any hesitation:

MRS. H. C. GOODRIDGE, 28 Hawthorne street, San Francisco, 9 years a sufferer from chronic ulcers, and her case abandoned by physicians, permanently cured. Certified to by Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, the well-known philanthropist, and president of the Kindergarten Association, San Francisco.

MRS. M. R. ADAMS, formerly of Sacramento, completely cured at the residence of her brother, Benjamin Welch, master car-builder of the Southern Pacific Company, Sacramento, of running sore on the arm of 8 years' standing, and that had nearly sapped her life.

W. S. DOAN, noted inventor of the steam wagon, Sacramento, 23 years of fever sores, cured in 40 days. Certified to by William Gutteseberger, ex-City Trustee, Sacramento; Alex. Nellson, John Driscoll and H. G. F. Root, proprietor of the Union Foundry, and others.

JAMES MCCORMICK, vice-president Bank of Redding Shasta county, 8 years' suffering from worst character of rectal ulcer, permanently cured in 3½ months.

W. A. DEAN, brother-in-law of M. H. de Young, of the San Francisco Chronicle, cured of aggravating piles and fistula in five weeks.

REV. J. T. HUFF, Turner Station, Or. (refers to Rev. Dr. Frost, Sacramento), cured of BLOOD POISONING of many years by use of the BLOOD REMEDY and SALVE. His letter is a remarkably warm indorsement.

We are also permitted to refer to Hon. Ira G. Holtt, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Sacramento; L. A. Upson, Sacramento; A. D. Carvill, of Carvill Manufacturing Company, San Francisco; Judge George E. Williams, Placerville; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lux (Lux & Miller), San Francisco; C. B. Corwin, 925 Market street, San Francisco, and a host of others as well known.

These cures have been made by the use of the BLOOD REMEDY and ULCER SALVE, which are HOUSEHOLD REMEDIES, etc., effective in impurities of the BLOOD and diseases of the LIVER and KIDNEYS, CHRONIC CONSTIPATION, PILES, FISTULAS etc.

Manufactured and for sale by the

SARSFIELD REMEDIES COMPANY,

115 EDDY STREET, San Francisco, and by all reputable druggists. Price, $1 per bottle for the Blood Remedy, and $1 and 50c. per box for the Salve, according to size.

Sterling exchange, dull, at 4.85½@4.86 for 60-day bills; 4.87¼ for demand.

Governments bonds were dull but strong.

Trading in stocks today was stupidly dull and uninteresting. The list generally was heavy to weak, but the declines, except in one or two cases, were insignificant. The opening was firm, with advances extending to ⅝ per cent. Business soon became dull, and while a moderate list remained strong in early dealings, Ft. Worth and Denver and New England developed considerable weakness. The general business moved off slowly upon increased business. In the last hour there was a slight advance. The close, however, was dull and barely steady, showing small changes in most cases, though St. Paul and Duluth is up 1⅞, and Ft. Worth and Denver down 1½.

"ROWENA!"

Lots in this beautiful tract should be purchased by all who desire to build a home, just outside the city limits, or five miles from the general postoffice, Main street, amid full-bearing fruit trees, the produce of which alone will pay the purchaser good interest on his purchase-money.

"ROWENA"

Is pre-eminently adapted for suburban homes, and a continuation of the West Los Angeles street-car line will soon reach the tract.

"Rowena" is Situated on Western Avenue.

It is not surpassed in its loveliness by any property elsewhere. Every want is supplied that man can desire—sunshine, ocean breeze, pure water, best ground. You need not till the soil; you can look on while the earth sends forth her plenty. All other tracts are but as the STARS, but THIS TRACT IS IN COMPARISON AS THE HEAVEN ITSELF THAT LIGHTS THE STARS.

"Flowers, the first luxury that Nature knew,
In Eden's pure and guiltless garden grew."

AT "ROWENA."

ONE, TWO AND A HALF AND FIVE-ACRE LOTS

AT "ROWENA."

THE PRICES OF THE ACRES ARE EQUIVALENT TO PRICES OF LOTS ELSEWHERE.

FROM $400 PER ACRE.

Intending purchasers will be driven out to Rowena any day at 9:30 and 3 o'clock.

All wanting acre property should immediately visit ROWENA, as the demands for this property are increasing daily. For beauty and full-bearing trees it cannot be duplicated in the county of Los Angeles.

One Adventist, 5 Baptist, 4 Catholic, 6 Congregational, 1 Christian, 2 Episcopal, 2 Lutheran, 2 German Evangelical, 1 Jewish, 8 Methodist Episcopal, 7 Presbyterian, 1 Unitarian, and 1 Religio-Philosophical Society.

There are 5 public parks named—the old Plaza, Sixth-street Park, East Side Park, Elysian Park and West Lake Park.

Fifty-nine business blocks are enumerated, and local transportation facilities are represented by 6 horse-car lines, 2 cable-car lines, 1 electric road and 2 steam dummy lines. Two more cable companies have their franchises and rights of way secured for long lines, the construction of which will be commenced very soon.

The book contains a good street directory and a large amount of information concerning the city schools, lists of teachers and salaries, school census, school property, etc.

There is also a classified business directory which includes every branch except saloons. The number of persons or firms enumerated in the different branches is 3084, divided as follows:

The municipal officers and Councilmen are given, with the different committees for the current year. Also, the Justices and officers of the Supreme Court of the State, and the times of meeting of the court. The Judges and officers of the four departments of the Superior Court, the Justices' courts, the United States Circuit and District Courts and all the county officers.

The press is well represented in Los Angeles, there being named 26 periodicals, viz., 4 daily and weekly newspapers, 5 weeklies, 3 horticultural papers, monthly; 2 commercial papers, a weekly and a semi-monthly; 4 religious papers, 1 weekly, 1 semi-monthly, 2 monthly; 2 railway papers, 1 theatrical, 1 social, 2 weekly French papers; 2 weekly Spanish papers; 1 German daily and 1 miscellaneous publication.

This gives a very good idea of the number of inhabitants in the city, and the amount of business that is transacted here. No better indication can be given to the outside world of the growth and prosperity of Los Angeles than is contained in the information here presented.

HE GOT AWAY.

A Burglar Goes Through a Basement Saloon.

It is very evident that this city is full of thieves of the boldest type. Several attempts to crack safes have been made during the last few weeks, and the robbers are still at large. Early yesterday morning a safe-cracker entered the cellar dive, on the corner of North Main and Arcadia streets, with the assistance of a pass-key, and gutted the place. There was only $5 in the till, but the thief succeeded in getting away with several boxes of cigars and some other valuables. While he was in the place a tramp went down the stairs, and was snoring like a good fellow, when the thief stumbled over him on his way out. The tramp gave the alarm, and Officer Moore was attracted to the spot, but the thief had made good his escape.

FIRE.

A Two-Thousand-Dollar Blaze on Alameda Street.

At 10 o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sent in from box 62, at the corner of First and Alameda streets. The cause was the brilliant blaze of a shed, containing a carpenter shop and miscellaneous job machinery, on Alameda, a half-block below First. Before the alarm was sent in the fire was under immense headway, and so quickly did it burn that it was almost consumed before water could be thrown. An immense crowd had gathered, lured by the brightness of the blaze. The shop was owned by a man named Center, who had been several months in fitting it up with various kinds of machinery, the loss on which he claims to have been $2000, only partially insured. The fire was one of the briefest on record. In twenty minutes from the time of starting it was burned to the ground, the flames extinguished and a crowd of several thousand people dispersed.

The fire was either incendiary or caused by sparks from passing engines. Incendiarism is more probable.

People's Store.

Today we will place before our patrons a list of specialties that have never been excelled. They consist of the most desirable goods in our house, and each one of them a gem.

Our first specialty will be a line of children's pique aprons, with sleeves. They are made of very heavy goods and finished in an excellent manner. We have just seventy-five of them, and all will be sold at the low figure of 25c. each. Worth from 50c. to 75c.

Our second is a gents' embroidered velvet and plain alligator slipper at 98c a pair. We have seen these same goods sold at $2 a pair, and are well worth the price.

Our third will be a line of crinkled seersuckers in all the new and desirable shades, in stripes and plaids, at 12½c., and never sold for less than 20c.

Our fourth is shelf oilcloth for decorating closets and pantries at 5c. a yard. Sold all over for 12½c.

Our fifth is a heavy, unbleached, yard-wide muslin at 6¼c.; sold by us heretofore at 10c. a yard.

Our seventh is a line of 42-inch double-fold colored bunting at 10c. They are good values at 20c. a yard.

Our eighth is an all-silk open-work mitt. We offer these goods at about one-third their real value, 10c. a pair. Come early, before they are all sold.

Our ninth is a ladies' colored pure lisle-thread hose at 25c. a pair, worth 50c.

Our tenth is a ladies' Berlin lisle 6-button length glove at 10c. a pair, worth 20c.

Our eleventh are children's summer merino undershirts at 25c. We have a complete assortment of sizes on hand, ranging from 16 to 34.

Our twelfth is a boys' velvet corduroy Norfolk suit in gray or brown at $5 each. These are the most serviceable goods that any one can purchase for boys' wear.

Our thirteenth is a ladies' pebble-goat button shoe at $1.25 a pair, worth $2.

Our fourteenth is a handsome bordered window-shade with illuminated dados, spring rollers and fixtures complete at 75c. each, worth $1.50. People's Store.

Money Is No Object.

The lives of your children are of priceless value. Every child is subject to sudden attacks of bowel complaint during the summer months. It is always alarming and often fatal. The only rational plan is to be provided at all times with the safest and surest remedy, and promptly treat the disorder in its first stages, and before the vitality becomes exhausted. Unexpected delays so often occur in sending for a physician or medicine, especially during the night or from a distance, that no one can afford to risk such uncertainties when life depends upon promptness. Keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy at hand for instant use. It is made for bowel complaint only and is unquestionably the most reliable medicine ever brought into general use. The price is no object compared with its value in saving life. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

For fear of losing a day's work, many persons put off taking physic until Saturday. The better plan is to not delay, but take it as soon as needed; it may save you a hard spell of sickness. If you want the most benefit from the least amount of physic, without causing you any inconvenience, loss of appetite or rest, take St. Patrick's Pills. Their action on the liver and bowels are thorough. They give a freshness, tone and vigor to the whole system, and act in harmony with nature. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA,

CONSUMPTION,

Together with diseases of the EYE, EAR AND HEART,

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D., M. C. P. S. O.,

No. 275 North Main Street,

A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and oet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharnyx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address,

SENATOR ALLISON.

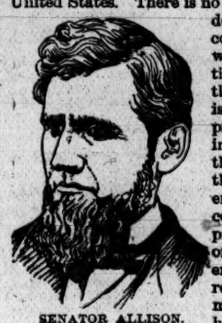
A CORRESPONDENT INTERVIEWS SENATOR MANDERSON,

Who Seems to Regard Mr. Allison as Available Republican Presidential Timber—Sketch of Allison's Public and Private Life.

[Special Correspondence.]

OMAHA, May 16.

"In speaking of available Republican candidates for the presidency, Senator Allison is always mentioned as a fit man for the position," said Gen. Charles F. Manderson, United States senator from Nebraska, the other day. "He has especial fitness on account of his experience in the house of representatives and in the senate. By reason of his personal popularity he would make a strong candidate. He is noted among his colleagues for his suavity of manner and his pleasant ways. He is a great favorite in legislative circles. In his tendencies he is not pugilistic, but is a man who prefers to settle differences amicably and by some method of arbitration rather than by a fight. Yet those who believe him lacking in the combative quality have frequently been surprised by the vigor and nerve with which he defends his position, especially when conflict comes, as it does at every session of congress, in matters of appropriation bills. Allison has been for many years in the senate the chairman of that most important committee, whose chairmanship requires a greater degree of knowledge of public affairs than perhaps any other position in the government of the United States. There is no department that does not come in constant contact with the appropriations committee of the senate. While it is true that appropriation bills originate in the house, they usually receive the careful consideration of the senate committee on appropriations, and of course the greater responsibility rests on the chairman. This position has brought Senator Allison not only into intimate communication with all members of the executive department, but it makes his relations with his brother members of the senate and members of the house very close. If success is desired for any appropriation measure, the member having it in charge will hardly hope for a satisfactory result without either the approval or passiveness of Mr. Allison. His active opposition to any measure that means either a self appropriating bill or one that must receive appropriation from the general appropriation bills would certainly mean defeat. It will be readily seen that because of this relationship to all public affairs it would be a very easy matter for a man differently constituted to become greatly hated by his colleagues, but instead of this being the case with Senator Allison, he is, I believe, to-day the most popular man personally in either branch of congress."



SENATOR ALLISON.

Such is the estimate of Senator Allison as a public man by Senator Manderson, who has been his colleague for four years. It may be regarded as the estimate of a very keen observer, and I venture to say that all who know Senator Allison will agree with the Nebraska Senator, who spoke without any idea that he was to be quoted in print. Incidentally, I recently heard from another public man a little story illustrating Allison's quiet methods of "getting there just the same." There was a fight on some appropriation bill. While it was in progress Senator Ingalls turned to a little group of Senators, who were amused at the dexterity of Allison in combating the opposition, and said: "I tell you he is a slick one. You could put a pair of wooden shoes on Allison and drive him over a corduroy road at the rate of twelve miles an hour, and he wouldn't make as much noise as a tomcat creeping over a Turkey carpet to catch a canary bird."

William B. Allison was born in 1829 at Perry, Ohio, and was educated at the Western Reserve college in that state. He studied law and was soon admitted to practice. In 1857 he moved to Iowa. When the war of the rebellion broke out he was on the staff of the governor of Iowa, whom he greatly assisted in the organization of troops for the war. Having become quite prominent in politics he was elected a representative in the Thirty-eighth congress, in which he made an excellent record, and as a reward he was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first congresses. He was elected to the United States senate as the successor of James Harlan, taking his seat on March 4, 1873. He was returned to the senate in 1879, and again in 1885. Senator Allison has, therefore, been a member of the national legislature for over twenty-four years, and no member of that body has a better record.

The public life of Senator Allison is known to the great majority of the intelligent people of the United States. His private life is equally interesting. He has made his home in Dubuque ever since he located in Iowa thirty years ago. He owns a modest looking brick house in O'Brien's row, in an attractive portion of the city. A prominent citizen of Iowa said to me a few days ago: "Senator Allison is pre-eminently a pleasant man, socially and in every other way. He is cordial without being offensively familiar, and though a man of great personal dignity and self respect, he never permits those characteristics to interfere with his friendliness and kindliness. He is easily approachable by all, and has the happy faculty that Chester A. Arthur possessed in so large a degree of making a caller entirely at home in his presence. He never tries to impress his greatness upon you, but meets you on a common footing, thus imparting a feeling of ease and confidence. Socially, Senator Allison is one of the most popular men in the country. In Dubuque he is a great favorite, and when out in society he enters heartily into all the diversions of the hour, and apparently enjoys them as much as the humblest person present. He is a most charming conversationalist. He has a rich, magnetic voice, and a black eye that twinkles merrily and rolls around very drolly when he is saying something rather dry but witty. The people in Dubuque are always glad to see him at their homes, for he honors and enlivens any company he joins. I am told that he will even play blind man's buff with the children when that game is proposed. In fact he will take part in the heartiest manner in any social game. He is very fond of whist, and is always delighted to sit down with good players for a quiet little game. He is an expert at whist. Mr. Allison is very liberal and public spirited, taking an active interest in every movement for the improvement of Dubuque. He is very generous, and gives away a great deal of money. One of his friends at Dubuque told me that Allison would never be a rich man, because he was too generous with his friends, helping them out of financial straits when he really was not able."

For the past year or two Senator Allison has rented his house in Dubuque, reserving, however, his library and one or two other rooms for his own use. He has no immediate family, being a widower without children. Mrs. Allison died in the autumn of 1883. She was a lovely and lovable woman, charming in disposition and character, and having a beautiful face and attractive form. She was somewhat younger than Mr. Allison, and retained all the beauty of her youth. Her acquaintances all say that she bore a striking resemblance to Mrs. Grover Cleveland. She was the adopted daughter of the late United States Senator Grimes, whose widow survives, and makes her home, at least a portion of the time, with Senator Allison.

The death of Mrs. Allison was a terrible blow to the senator, who was a most devoted husband. He was always very attentive to her, so much so indeed that in Washington it was frequently remarked, "What a lover-like husband Senator Allison is." The loss of his wife is a subject that his most intimate friends will not refer to in his presence. The manner of her death was indeed sad. She suddenly became afflicted with mental derangement during a political campaign in which the senator was engaged to make several speeches, and while he was away from home she drowned herself. He abandoned the campaign, being stricken down with a grief so great that it was feared for a time that he would retire from public life forever.

Senator Allison is by no means a rich man. He may be said to be in fairly comfortable circumstances. His money is invested principally in real estate and bank securities. I do not think he is worth over $100,000. A well posted friend of Senator Allison estimates his fortune at not over $60,000. The summer vacation two years ago he spent in Europe. Last summer he remained in Washington. This summer he will probably stay most of the time in Dubuque. He intends, as I am told, to visit Colorado, and also the principal summer resorts in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

ALFRED SORENSON.

NEW YORK LETTER.

Comments Upon Things in General and Women in Particular.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, May 16.

The widow, son and son-in-law of Henry Ward Beecher are preparing a life of the great preacher, and, as in the case of the "Memoirs of Grant," the entire country will be districted out to canvassers. It will be the only authentic life of Beecher, and it is said will contain some private letters of peculiar interest.

When women of culture look around for employment at the beginning of the traditional rainy day they would be tolerably sure of finding something congenial and remunerative if they would take any one thing for which they have a taste if not a talent, cultivate it and devote themselves to it. Of course they must begin in a small way; but in this country there is always growth for any branch of business under the sun if it is conducted with ability and energy. As one woman who had a chance to know whereof she spoke said: "You can sell Croton water here in New York at $1 a bottle if you have it put up and labeled neatly and advertise it judiciously under some other name. Indeed, I am not sure that you could not sell it under its own name if you had it labeled 'Superior Croton water.' There is Mary Tillinghast, of a family which had wealth and social position, the head of which suddenly failed and died. The widow and daughters moved into the country. Mary was the eldest and had artistic gifts. She had gone abroad and worked faithfully in Carolus Duran's studio for a year or longer. She decided to try to make her artistic acquirements a means of earning a livelihood. She went into partnership with John Lafarge, whose company was just being organized. They decorated the Union League club and the Vanderbilt houses. Miss Tillinghast invented and patented a new kind of tapestry for the Vanderbilt houses, for which she was paid $30,000, but they were so costly in material and contained so much embroidery that she did not have a large profit even at that price. Lafarge & Co. failed three years ago. Miss Tillinghast went abroad and stayed a year and a half, and is now decorating without a partner. She decorated the house of Telephone Bell in Washington, and is now at work on a house in Gramercy park for Cyrus Field's son. Yes, and she has made the first church window ever made by a woman in this country, and it will soon be put in its place at Grace church, this city. Miss Tillinghast was among the artists who sent in designs for the proposed window. The committee had scruples in regard to awarding the contract to a woman. It looked a little like helping to shatter the universe, but her design was the best and she got it. But they said she should use English glass. She said she would not. She had her way. Yes, every woman under the sun who has any ability in any direction could turn it to account if she would only perfect herself in whatever line she started out on.

"One trouble with women in the matter of earning their bread is that they have rather narrow ideas in regard to the respectability of certain kinds of business. If they cannot be bankers or railroad presidents they don't want to be anything. They will write poetry, paint plaques or teach languages at starvation figures, and be comfortable in mind, because those things are classed among the "genteel" employments for gentlewomen. At least they were when the world had less sense than it has now. But as for going into some business calling in their own names, and running it quite like a man would—oh, dear, no, they wouldn't like that. They would lose caste."

Smith Was Sound.

Agent Agricultural Implement Manufactory (testing his list)—Is your neighbor Smith sound?

Old Farmer—Well, I should reckon. He weighs 180 and never was sick a day; been a consistent Baptist for forty years an' never voted agin a Democrat in his life. Sound! Well, I reckon there ain't no sounder man on the Wabash than what Smith is.

St. James.

St. James.

The development of Southern California seems to follow in the wake of the "Santa Fe Trail," as the "Peo.le's Line" is known in the East.

The magnificent foothill country has been opened, towns created and fortunes made by the investors in town property.

Now comes the first new town in the beautiful valley of the Santa Ana,

ST. JAMES.

It is located just at the outlet of the Santa Ana canyon, near the foothills, commanding a beautiful view of the Pacific Ocean.

Anaheim, four and a half miles, Orange, five miles, Santa Ana, nine miles. It will naturally control the great business of the Santiago Valley, and there is no soil more fertile, no landscape more entertaining, no future more promising, than this first new town in the Santa Ana Valley. The finest water power in the county is close to the townsite. The mill grinds day and night, with a force of 120-horse power.

The water for the town of St. James is there now, not "to be developed," but actually there.

The townsite is clean, level and perfect.

The maps will be out in a day or two, and the day of sale, which will be by auction, to the highest bidder, without reserve, will be named soon. The sale will positively occur this month.

Remember, the first purchasers always make money in our new towns.

REV. L. F. BICKFORD ON SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

The Good Points of the Country Summed Up by an Enthusiastic Visitor — Possibly Flattering, but Pleasant to Read Now and Then.

[Religious Herald, Hartford, Ct.]

Southern California is the goal of tired, overworked brain toilers, nerve-racked business people, and people of leisure; the ultima thule of home seekers. As one stands at the railway station in Los Angeles or Pasadena, beholding the streams of humanity that pour off the trains from the East, and looking in the faces of the eager throng, sees intelligence, culture, refinement, purpose, stamped there, he falls to wondering what it all means and what draws them hither. These people are not the typical western-bound emigrants. They have been toilers, leaders, strong men and women in society, business, church whence they came. Such a people do not come for naught. Look around, and the more one studies the situation, the clearer becomes the answer to the above query.

Leaving Los Angeles for Pasadena and passing along the rather unsightly and rocky gorge, the disappointing question arises: Is this a sample of the golden-sunset land? But soon emerging from this, the traveler is repaid for his disappointment when the grand Raymond Hotel, the "Pride of Pasadena," bursts upon his view as the train winds its tortuous way in its climb up the valley. Lovelier yet the scene as the marvelous beauty of the San Gabriel Valley opens before him and he speeds through orange groves, glowing with golden fruit, into embowered and be-flowered Pasadena, the "Crown of the Valley." Surely she is rightly named, as she sits queen at the opening of this earthly paradise. I have heard it said that the name means "Gate of Eden," and surely when Eden was "lost" she must have taken wing away to this sunset summerland, to be found in a regenerated age, when and where the new kingdom of Peace is bringing back the lost inheritance. The long-shut "Gate of Eden" is open, and instead of the sword of threatening, the scepter of peace and welcome.

Stand on the "foothills" above Pasadena and look around. You are on a slope 500 feet higher than, and four miles from the town. Behind rise the grand Sierra Madre range, before lies the land of enchantment, the little city, the pearl of the West, with her 6000 inhabitants, all embosomed in orange and lemon groves, shade trees of pepper, eucalyptus and evergreen; further to the south the "Raymond," on its sightly eminence, while sweeping away to the east lies, in all its loveliness, the cream of Southern California, the San Gabriel Valley. This is about twenty miles wide, and the same kind of country stretches on into the Santa Ana Valley, being shut in only yonder where Mts. San Bernardino and San Jacinto lift their snow-crowned fronts eighty and ninety miles away.

Here is the home of the orange, lemon, lime, peach, apricot, fig, olive, grape, pear, plum, loquot, guava, pomegranate, almond, English walnut, and berries without number. Not that they grow wild, but flourish by cultivation under the genial sky.

The citrus fruits, as the orange and lemon, flourish best on the high, dry and warm foothills and need irrigation. But the mountains are inexhaustible reservoirs from which the water descends and is piped all through an orange colony. This is what makes the country the wonderland that it is. California is cut across by this range of mountains, setting off Southern California by itself as the garden of the world. As if heaven bestowed special love on this country, the water comes down from above, does not have to be brought up from below, and the fruit-grower controls the water as he cannot the rains of heaven. But it requires expense to pipe it. The colony of Ontario spent $250,000 to develop water, but it is better supplied with that necessary element than any place in the United States; in fact, it is endless and never fluctuates. Pasadena is well supplied with water. On the lower land deciduous fruits, vegetables, grain and alfalfa grow well without irrigation. This last is a grass, of which are cut three and four heavy crops a year. With water or a moist soil vegetation grows nearly all the year, so that a succession of crops can be raised, supplying the people with vegetables constantly. The alfalfa has very long roots that penetrate to the lowest moisture. Some portions of the country have an adobe soil, that is, a soil mixed with the California clay, but the orange succeeds better on a more porous soil, where the roots can penetrate deep enough to find much of their own moisture. Still it needs irrigation.

Among the ranches, or farms of the San Gabriel that of "Lucky" Baldwin is the most extensive and renowned. He has 1200 acres in grapes, 16,000 orange trees, other fruits almost endless, and a house surrounded with lakes, walks, grounds and flowers through which one drives as through fairyland.

L. J. Rose has a ranch of 2000 acres, 140 acres in oranges, with a driveway of half a mile, his crop bringing about $40,000 annually; his vineyard producing about 2500 tons of grapes a year.

The yield of fruits is something wonderful from the fact that they have so long a season in which to grow. For example: Peaches weighing a half-pound each, and grapes four inches in circumference, with clusters fifteen inches in length, are reported as frequently raised. The climate seems not only adapted to fruit-raising, but promotive of fruit-eating, and every meal becomes a feast where the table is spread with fruits that at the North could be indulged in only as delicacies. And this seems to be one element of health, the people partake so freely of fruit. There is practically no winter, what little frost there is being so slight as to not touch the tender leaves of the tomato plant. I did see some banana trees, which are very tender and used only for ornament there, that were cut by frost. There is no ice, snow or mud. The rains come in the winter, and this season the rainfall was a trifle over twelve inches, which insures vegetation, but the usual fall is from twenty-five to thirty inches. In the summer the sea-breeze always springs up about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and so tempers the heat that it is said to be more endurable than at the North, 100° not being so severe as 90° in a damp climate. The nights are always cool, and in no country in the world is there more of a sense of rest and invigoration on waking in the morning. It is a luxury to sleep in such a refreshing clime, both summer and winter; no sense of languor in summer, after a night of tossing, nor of freezing on a winter morning.

In a country where there are no cyclones, no sunstrokes and no mad-dogs, but with 330 perfect, balmy days in the year, it is a luxury to live. Added the lavish wealth of flowers from every clime, roses of innumerable varieties and surpassing beauty; calias, beside which those so tenderly cultivated as house-plants at the East are dwarfed, all these growing luxuriantly out of doors the year round, and you have the picture complete of this earthly Eden. Climate, health, scenery, fruits, flowers, the lavish products of nature, retirement, comfort, these are the attractive forces which are building a golden Empire on the sunset shore.

The Weak Place in Labor Organizations.

[Chicago Inter Ocean.]

Mr. Charles A. Dana stopped short of touching the sore with a needle when he told the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that the indiscriminate immigration of inferior labor had become so much of an evil as to attract the attention of Government, with a view to restrictions.

The law of survival of the fittest would have told upon inferior labor before this had not its operation been delayed by the profligate policy of trades unions and labor leagues. In a foolish desire for mere numerical strength, the organizations of almost all the trades have taken every kind of material that came in reach to build themselves up. Like the Salvation Army they have shouted:

"Come in rags, come in dirt, come knaves and come fools,
Without breeches or shirt, without work, without tools;
Come join us, march with us, shout with us, yea yell,
We will conquer the devil, and lay siege to hell."

The Salvation Army, however, disciplines its recruits; promotion in it is by some sort of evidence of fitness. The leagues and assemblies took their shirtless, breechless, toolless, and workless recruits and made officers of them. The inferior and foreign element has often become the ruling one. Always it has been insisted that inferior labor became equal to superior by fact of a membership in leagues or unions. A forced nominal value has been given to a debased article of labor.

Most employers would reject the inferior importations of labor, or at most employ them on inferior work, at inferior wages, were it not that the labor unions prevent them from exercising this needful discretion. Honest and capable labor has been the severest sufferer by this useless effort against the natural law of selection. It is not the rule that the most valuable workmen are high in office in labor organizations, or most active as walking delegates; it is the exception. In this city the aliens seem to have taken control. It has been very forcibly said by one who knows what it is to labor with his own hands that if the son of a soldier who had been maimed in battle for his country were to lay a brick today he would very probably be ordered to desist by a man who had not been three months in the country. If the unrestricted importation of inferior labor be an evil of sufficient magnitude to attract the attention of the Administration, it should certainly attract the attention of native and naturalized workmen who have allowed themselves to be governed by it in their leagues and assemblies.

BERNHARDT ENTERTAINED.

She Enjoys a Luncheon With the Prince of Raconteurs.

[New York World.]

Yesterday afternoon, about 2 o'clock, Mme. Sara Bernhardt, arrayed in one of Worth's most exquisite sleeveless robes, paced up and down, impatiently, in her gorgeous chamber, in the Hoffman House. She had an engagement to receive at luncheon that genial raconteur, Marshal Pendergast Wilder. She was nervous. "Il est tard," she muttered. Precisely at 2:10 o'clock the ever-welcome child of Momus appeared, hat in hand, and wearing a new pair of terra cotta gloves. The great artiste seized the little artist with empressment. Her first exclamation was: "Quel diable drole! Il a le figure de notre chere Coquelin!" At this Marshall P. dropped his facile mandibular upon his bosom and smiled a smile such as limmers impart to the aged African when news reaches him of the arrival in town of the first watermelons of the season. Young Maurice Bernhardt was there in the capacity of interpreter and the madame gave our genial homunculus to understand that she wanted to be particularly gracious because the Prince of Wales had told her when in London a lot of nice things about him and had asked her to be especially good to him. Without further ado the great French artiste and the little American repaired to the Alcazar chamber where luncheon was served. A nice roast pheasant, rice croquettes, a delicious lettuce salad with French dressing, and a bit of fromage de brie constituted the repast, and a bottle of Mr. Stokes's incomparable Dumany (private stock) washed it down. Marshall didn't drink. He never does. Before eating, the famous tiger cat was brought in, and madame told a great many funny stories about it.

Owing to Mr. Wilder's inability to speak French he opened with his budget of pantomine stories. He gave his telephone imitations, and Sara expressed great delight. Then he gave the story of the man who received the letter from his absent wife, under the impression that it was a request for more money, but which concluded with the announcement of the serious illness of her mother—the dreaded mother-in-law. This story is told without words. The facial changes of Mr. Wilder were watched with interest by the great actress. When the smile began to break over the little man's dark countenance, like sunshine from behind a sullen cloud, as he gradually took in the situation of the mother-in-law, Sara laughed as though she would break her stays. Next Mr. Wilder gave his imitations of snoring in a sleeping-car. It required no knowledge of English to appreciate this performance. Sara fairly howled with delight. "Zat is vary funny!" she ejaculated. Then Mr. Wilder took from his pocket a curiously cut bit of paper, and folded it into scores of familiar objects—first a bouquet, then a hat, then a star, then a bird, and then finally managed to get out of it a very fair profile of Donna Sol herself.

"When is a door not a door? When it is ajar," asked and answered the little entertainer. Sara understood this joke, having heard it in Provence some years ago, and she laughed the joyous laugh of the country maiden when she recognizes the familiar jest of the Merry Andrew of the circus. By request, Mr. Wilder gave a pathetic recitation—"Grandpa's Pants Will Soon Fit Willie." At the conclusion a tear stood in the corner of each of the tragedienne's expressive eyes. She shook Mr. Wilder fervently by the hand and called him "le petit Coquelin."

The inimitable farceur told a half-dozen more funny stories. Then the divine Sara wrote on the back of one of her finest cabinet photographs: "Souvenir d'une charmante journee," which she persented her little entertainer with many a neat and gracious speech. Then she pressed both of Mr. Wilder's hands warmly, and told him that when he came to Paris this summer he must surely call and see her. Thus the great artists parted.

She Dreamed On the Pumice Stone.

[Chicago Herald.]

There is a young woman on Calumet avenue who has lost confidence in the efficacy of wedding cake. About a week ago a friend presented her with a goodly chunk of that delectable food known as bride's cake. The young woman wrapped the white fluffy stuff in a piece of tissue paper and thrust it into her pocket, intending, as she said, to place it under her pillow that night and dream about her future husband. Somehow or other the little package got mixed up with a parcel of about the same size and wrapping which contained pumice stone. When night came the pretty girl stowed what she supposed was the wedding cake under her pillow and then lay down to struggle with some slumber. The dear creature slept, but it was a troubled sleep. She beheld all sorts of hideous monsters and writhing reptiles, and once or twice during her nightmare (for it was nothing else) she made involuntary plunges into dark abysses. When morning came the young woman got out of bed in a huff and forthwith declared a boycott on all wedding cake.

The Mirror Premium Sewing-Machine.

$22.00 for a $75.00 High-Arm Sewing-Machine
And The Weekly Mirror.

THE MIRROR
Perfect and Improved High-Arm Sewing-Machine.

For $22 this machine and WEEKLY MIRROR, postage paid, for one year.

This machine is the first of its kind ever offered the public at factory prices, and cannot be bought from agents for less than the regular selling price, $75. It is the high-arm pattern, has self-setting needle; cannot be run backward; has automatic cut-off for driving belt, which prevents it from being run backward, thus avoiding all dangers of breaking thread or needles. It is a noiseless, light-running machine, accompanied by an illustrated book of instructions that makes everything so plain and simple that any lady or child can master it. We call it the MIRROR HIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE, and we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has received the same, if it fails to be as respresented, at our expense, and the money will be refunded.

The above cut represents our HIGH-ARM MIRROR SEWING MACHINE, the very latest improved machine of the high-arm style; a complete embodiment of all the most recent improvements in sewing machine mechanism; a model selected by us after a careful and critical examination and test of the various machines in the market.

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quantities for spot cash at or very near first cost, we can save our subscribers at least $35 on the price of each machine. As this is the first time a sewing machine of this character has been offered to the public at about manufacturer's cost, we feel confident our readers will promptly take advantage of this opportunity to provide themselves with first-class high-arm machines, which obtained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount.

We could fill several columns expatiating on the merits of this high-arm machine, but to save the reader's patience we will simply say that it contains all the modern improvements, is strong, simple, durable, light-running and noiseless.

OUTFIT—Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece), Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screw Driver, Oil Can filled with Oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumb-screw and a Book of Directions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The regular retail price of this machine is $75. Our price with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR is only $22.

Knowing the character of the machine and the high grade of material and workmanship entering into its construction, we have no hesitation in agreeing to return the money at once to any subscriber who is not fully satisfied on examination that our high-arm machine is fully equal to our representations, we paying freight on return of the machine.

CAUTION—Sewing machine agents will tell you, "Beware of Cheap machines." We tell you buy the high-arm machine on trial, and if not satisfactory return it. No agent can sell you its equal for less than $75. Each part of the machine is fitted with such exactness that no trouble can arise if any part is broken, for a new piece can be supplied with an assurance of a perfect fit.

The High-Arm Machine is carefully packed and shipped by freight from Chicago.

Freight charges are to be paid at point of delivery by the subscriber.

Give shipping directions plainly, as well as the postoffice, address the paper is to be sent to.

☞ The LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES—Any person desiring the Daily and this Sewing Machine can have the same by mail for $29.

HOW TO ORDER.

When you remit us the $22 for the Machine and WEEKLY MIRROR one year, write plainly the point the machine is to be shipped to, as well as the postoffice the paper is to be sent to. The machine should be ordered to the nearest railroad point where the railroad company has an agent stationed, and the name of railroad station, the county and State should be stated. When $22 are sent for the WEEKLY MIRROR one year and the machine, the freight charges from the factory are to be paid by the subscriber at the point Machine is delivered to.

We would advise subscribers to order machine sent by freight, as the freight charges are about one-third to one-fourth of express charges; and while the time taken in the carrying of the machine is a little longer, they go just as securely and safely as by express. The machines will be shipped direct from the manufactory (Chicago), all set up ready for use. The money must accompany order. Address,

TESTIMONIALS:

"GIVING PERFECT SATISFACTION."

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 30, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: The Times-Mirror Sewing-Machine is giving perfect satisfaction; in my opinion it is as good as any $65 machine. I have not done any heavy work on it yet, but I think it will do it all right. J. W. Ross, Pasadena, Cal.

"HIGHLY PLEASED WITH IT.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: In reply to yours of 26th would state that I am highly pleased with the Premium Sewing-Machine I received with the MIRROR. Gives every satisfaction; so easy to learn how to manage; does such excellent work; in fact cannot praise it too much, and would not take twice the amount it cost me. I am, yours respectfully, MRS. EDWIN BROWN.

"THE MORE WE USE IT, THE BETTER WE LIKE IT."

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 28, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: I have used your sewing-machine since last July. The more we use it the better we like it. On fine and heavy work it is splendid. We have tried the attachment. In fact, it goes ahead of your advertisement so far.
MRS. S. A. WARE Pasadena, Cal.

"LIKES IT BETTER THAN THE $125 SINGER."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 1, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: The machine gives entire satisfaction. My wife likes it better than the $125 Singer that it has replaced. Yours truly,
JOSEPH WILSON.
With Perry, Mott & Co.

"GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION."

EAST LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 1, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: We have the High-Arm Machine and use it for light family sewing. It gives good satisfaction.
Yours etc. S. W. TRUE.

"RUNS SMOOTH—AND SEWS EVERYTHING BUT BUTTONS."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: The report from the chief engineer of the sewing-department of my domestic establishment is to the effect that the sewing-machine lately furnished by you for $22 arrived in good order and in due time, and has given entire satisfaction. It runs lightly and with very little noise and performs to perfection all kinds of sewing work with the exception of buttons. Very truly yours, WM. P. WADE.

"TRIED 'EM ALL AND LIKES THE MIRROR MACHINE BEST."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 29, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: My wife tried several $75 machines, and chose the Mirror Premium Sewing-Machine as an equal to the best in the market, for one-fourth of the money. It is perfect in all particulars, and admired by all who see it. My wife has been using it several months, and we both cheerfully recommend it to the public, ras epresented. WM. L. PRICE, 218 Temple Street.

"SAME IN WORKMANSHIP AND MATERIAL AS THE HIGH-PRICED ARTICLE."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: Having sold hundreds of the Remington Sewing-Machines for $65, which you are now offering with the WEEKLY MIRROR at $22, I wish to say that the machine you offer is identically the same as the high-priced article both as to material, workmanship and capacity. Being a resident here and an experienced sewing-machine man, I will take pleasure in instructing any one in working the machine, in this place or vicinity.
C. E. SPENCER.

"IS DELIGHTED WITH IT."

POMONA, Cal., Oct. 25, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: The High-Arm Mirror Sewing-Machine came in good time, in excellent condition, without scratch or blemish, and I am delighted with it.
We believe the machine is all that you recommend it to be, and think it a rare opportunity for those who may a want a machine to get a first-class one cheap. Yours truly, MRS. J. W. STRINGFIELD.

"PERFECT IN EVERY RESPECT."

NORWALK, Cal., Oct. 26, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: The High-Arm Premium Machine arrived in prime condition, and is perfect in every respect. Freight $2.50, with first cost added, making $22.50 for as good a machine as are usually sold through agents for $75. Well pleased. Yours respectfully,
MRS. E. C. CRANSTON.

"VERY MUCH PLEASED WITH IT."

DOWNEY, Cal., Oct. 26, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: I am very much pleased with my machine, as far as I have used it, and feel safe in saying that I have just as good a machine as if I had given $65 for it. Shall advise any of my friends to try this before buying any other, as I think it is fully as good as represented. Very truly, MRS. MARTHA ALLISON.

"RUNS LIGHT AND EASY—DOES ITS WORK WELL."

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 29, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: I can say in regard to the machine that it is well liked. It runs light and easy, and does its work well. It is a very cheap machine at
